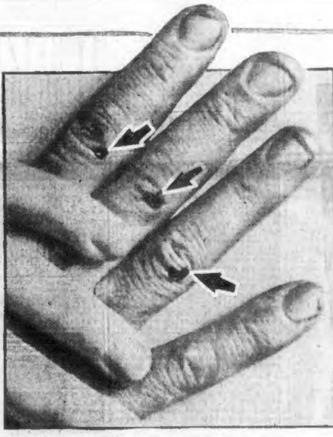
11 ARRESTED IN $100,000 RUM SEIZURE

HELD IN $5,000

Eric Nelson Grieffe, who was held in Chelsea today in $5,000 bail on charges filed by Revere police of attacking Hyman Stone. Revere police insist he be accused, too, of attacking Mrs. Mourad in Winthrop. Boston Evening American Staff Photos



SHE TELLS OF SCRATCHED KNUCKLES

Mrs. Florence Mourad, who was beaten by a slugger Saturday in Battery station, Winthrop, identified Grieffe as her assailant. She told of him having snaggled teeth and knuckles which were scarred as she bit the man. Grieffe has an alibi that he was at work in the Elks' Hotel at the time, which Boston and Winthrop police believe.

BEATEN BY A SLUGGER

Mrs. Florence Mourad, who is in a hospital recovering from the effects of the beating. Although she insists Grieffe is the man who attacked her, police doubted her identification and continued their search for a former Fort Banks soldier, who they say is the guilty man.

5 HUB MEN CAPTURED BY GUARDS

Raiders Seize $100,000 Stock of Booze on an Island Near Marshfield

Marshfield, March 7.—Coast Guard raiders today seized 1,000 cases of alcohol and Scotch whiskey, valued by the raiders at nearly $100,000 at current bootleg prices, and arrested 11 men in a gunning shack on Trounce Island.

All those arrested, including five Boston men, were charged with smuggling and held in bail of $2,500 each for arraignment tomorrow in Boston before U. S. Commissioner Jenney.

The vicinity of the island, which is situated in the Marshfield River in the Marshfield Hills section, was the scene of all-night sleuthing by the Coast Guards from the Scituate station and Scituate police officers before the gunning stand was found and the seizure made.

As the place was finally located

Woman Shot, One Man Is Held and Another Sentenced

A mystery shooting, declared to have followed a quarrel, sent James Saccatio, 40, of Winnisimmet street, Chelsea, and James Ritondal, 28, of Meridian street, East Boston, into Chelsea Court today, the former charged with shooting his wife Philomena.

Saccatio's case was continued for a week and he was held in $5,000. Ritondal, alleged to have possessed the gun, was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction, after being found guilty of carrying a revolver. He appealed.

Mrs. Saccatio is at Chelsea Memorial Hospital with a wound over one eye. She declared she was shot while in the kitchen, but denied knowing who fired.

Powder marks were found on her clothing by Police Sergeant William B. O'Connor and Patrolman George Linn at the hospital. Saccatio denied firing at his wife, but admitted he had chastised her after she called him names. According to the police, the gun was found on Ritondal.

JURORS ARE CHOSEN IN NEW SINCLAIR TRIAL

Washington, March 7 (A.P.).—Another of the legal prosecutions that budded from the Senate oil investigation came to fruition today when Harry F. Sinclair, the wealthy lessee of Teapot Dome, was brought to trial here for contempt of the Senate.

The indictment resulted from his refusal to answer questions asked

AUTO PLUNGES INTO RIVER; 2 ARE DYING

Brockton, March 7.—Skidding on wet planks of the Salisbury River bridge in Main street, the automobile of Maurice ("Marty") Conley of the Bridgeport polo team, plunged into the river, turned over and pinned Conley and a girl beneath it.

Though suffering agonies from a broken leg and two fractured ribs, the girl, pretty Eileen Dalton of Holbrook, would not let rescuers free her until the car had been lifted off the more seriously injured Connolly.

Both are in a critical condition at the Brockton Hospital, but physicians believe there is a chance of life for the little heroine.

The two were driving along Main street in Conley's car, when the machine skidded on the wet planking of the bridge. In an instant it crashed through the iron rail and toppled into the stream ten feet below.

As it fell the automobile turned on its side. The river is very shallow at the point, but a few feet deep, the bottom being an ooze of mud. "Marty" fell directly beneath

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET IS MIXED

New York stock market was mixed in the closing period today, after see-sawing most of the session. Trading was less active than it was last week. American Woolen pfd. sold at 71 3-4, off 1 1-4, on poor statement for 1926. Declaration of President A. G. Pierce that the comyany is in "best financial condition in years" helped to check selling. U. S. Steel sold up fractionally.

WISE ONES are selecting Republican candidates for 1928 "in case" Mr. Coolidge should decide not to run for a second electoral term. If he decides to try a second electon, which his friends expect, that will end speculation. He'll be nominated.

BUT NO ONE knows what the President will do until he does it. And willing candidates like to hope that his veto of the McNary-Haugen farm bill will make him decide against running again.

By 1928, however, farmers may have other things to think of. Wheat, cotton and pork may be feeling better. Everything changes from year to year. If you MUST bet, which you should not do, bet on Coolidge.

HOW WOULD you make your list of probable Coolidge substitutes? Lowden and Dawes are conspicuous in the list of those who forget that farmers vote Republican anyhow.

Many would pick Hoover for his hard, efficient work on great

SLUGGER SUSPECT HELD DESPITE 'ALIBI' STORY

Charged with assault with intent to kill, Eric Nelson Grieffe, blonde giant and "slugger" suspect, was held in $5,000 today in Chelsea District Court.

Revere police, refusing to heed the statements of other police departments that the holding of Grieffe is a case of mistaken identity, insisted in court that they have uncovered a forceful case against the South End man.

LAYS STUDENT SUICIDES TO U.S. ATHLETIC MANIA

By H. K. REYNOLDS.

Copyright, 1927, International News Service.

Oxford, England, March 7.—The American mania for star college athletes is partially responsible for the wave of student suicides in the United States, according to the views of Dr. Walter Tyrell Brooks, proctor of the chancellor's court and coroner of Oxford University, in an interview with the International News Service today.

The student life of America would be far more wholesome if all students were forced to take outdoor exercise and engage in athletics, instead of all concentration being placed upon the production of a few star athletes, Dr. Brooks believes.

"English universities have never been troubled by suicide waves," said Dr. Brooks, "because more than nine-tenths of the undergraduates engage in one sport or another.

"What the American colleges should do to stop the epidemic of suicides is to force, directly or in-

FIND ROLLERS JUST THE THING

It wasn't so long ago these same youngsters were wishing for clear firm ice. Now they are all for smooth sidewalks and clean streets so they can go roller skating.

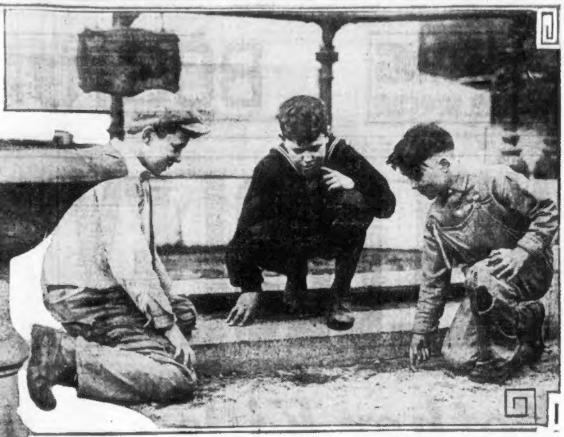
"WELL, I DON'T CARE IF I DO"

That is what this pretty girl thought, even though she did not put it in words, as she took advantage of the newly opened bubbler on the Common.



FAVORITE SPRING PASTIME

Marbles and Spring are synonymous in the minds of young America and boys may be seen on the Common and all over Greater Boston at their favorite sport.

the car, and its weight was gradually pressing him down to death in the mud when rescuers appeared. He was unconscious.

Miss Dalton did not receive the whole weight of the car on her body, but her legs were imprisoned so that she could not move.

Frederick Galvin and Joseph Lyons, two Brockton boys, had been driving close behind the Conley car, and had almost reached the bridge when they saw the car topple into the stream.

EXTRICATE CONNOLLY.

They quickly leaped into the river, and at first saw only Miss Dalton.

The girl, between tightly-clenched lips, said faintly: "Marty's under the car. Get him out first or he'll drown. I'm all right."

The boys didn't realize that the girl was suffering from a broken leg, two broken ribs, and internal injuries, so they spent all their efforts in extricating the unconscious polo player from beneath the heavy car. They finally were able to raise his head above the water to keep him from drowning, though they could not free him from his imprisonment.

As soon as Miss Dalton saw that Conley was safe from drowning at least the girl fainted, and one of the boys was compelled to support her head to keep it from sinking below the surface.

EXTRICATE CONLEY.

Meanwhile, another witness to the accident had telephone the police, and Sergeant Leary, with Patrolmen Spear and Kearns reached the place.

They dragged man and girl, now both unconscious, from beneath the machine, and were faced with the problem of getting the two out of the river over the steep banks.

Then the fire department appeared, and Assistant Chief Dickinson lowered ladders down from the bridge so that both victims could be carried up, and hurried to the hospital.

At the hospital the rescuers told the physicians that Miss Dalton could not be seriously hurt, detailing how she had directed their efforts at rescue, but examination revealed that the girl had been quite as badly hurt as had "Marty," and it was only sheer courage that enabled her to direct the rescuers.

The names of man and girl were both placed on the danger list.

Conley and Miss Dalton are engaged to be married, according to friends of the couple. He is forty years of age and the girl is thirty-two. They were returning from a visit with relatives at Campello when the accident occurred.

DAY OFF FOR POLICE BELIEVED ILLEGAL

Lowell, March 7. — Although no official ruling has been made by either Attorney-General Arthur K. Reading or City Solicitor Joseph P. Donahue, it is regarded as virtually certain the one day off in eight privilege, which the police have enjoyed since October, 1920, will be declared illegal.

Mr. Donahue is ready to give his decision but he is withholding the opinion at the request of Patrolman Clyde R. Aldrich, Lowell member of the executive committee of the Massachusetts Police Association, pending an announcement from the attorney-general.

GIRLS FLEE FIRE

The roof of the building caved in a short time after the fire was discovered. Flames spread with great rapidity through the building. Sparks flew toward other buildings on the campus and smoke rolled into many of the class rooms and dormitories.

A class in botany was listening to a lecture in Stone Hall when the alarm was sounded. They fled and the girls left most of the other buildings as the first alarm of fire was sounded by a general alarm, calling all Wellesley apparatus to the scene.

Help was summoned from Natick, Newton and Needham to aid the Wellesley fire-fighters in preventing the flames from spreading.

A large number of valuable books and scientific instruments were lost, there being no time to save them before the roof collapsed.

Stone Hall is a dormitory, but it is being renovated and was used temporarily for classes. Workmen were at work on the roof when the fire started.

HUNT SOLDIER AS 'SLUGGER'

authorities contend that he also was the attacker of Mrs. Florence Mourad in the Battery railroad station in Winthrop.

Winthrop police are skeptical, in spite of the fact that Mrs. Mourad has identified Grieffe.

BLAME EX-SOLDIER.

A former Fort Banks soldier is responsible for the brutal beating of Mrs. Mourad, according to the opinion of the Winthrop police chief, William A. McNeil, who believes that her identification of Grieffe is faulty. He believes Grieffe's alibi.

In court, where Grieffe appeared calm and composed, he was not given a chance to tell his story of having worked at a Boston hotel throughout Saturday, the day on which the Winthrop woman was attacked, nor was he allowed to put in a defence in the attack on Stone.

At the request of Captain Tappan of the Revere police, the defendant's request for immediate hearing was denied and the case was continued for one week to give Inspectors Starkey and Ciccia of Revere time to make a more complete investigation.

Boston police, who arrested Grieffe for drunkenness, are inclined to believe with the Winthrop authorities that his alibi is perfect.

GROUNDS FOR ARREST.

"His identification by Stone and Mrs. Mourad satisfies us," declared Captain Tappan of Revere, answering this assertion. "Stone saw him get out of the patrol wagon at the Revere headquarters and recognized him before he even saw his face. Grieffe's stature and bearing are unmistakable.

"He gave us the name Eric Nelson when arrested and that is the name we will call him. Later, at the hospital where Mrs. Mourad identified him, he wrote his name Eric Nelson Grieffe.

"In his room in the South End of Boston we found a passport bearing the name Otto Anderson. It was dated March 23, 1923, when it was vised by the American consul in Rotterdam.

"We have learned that, in spite of Nelson's alibi, a man of his description bought candy from a drug-store clerk near Battery station in Winthrop on Saturday.

35 Banks Victims of Book Firm Collapse

Ten Boston banks and 25 other banks, stretching from Maine to Virginia may become the victims of the $1,500,000 collapse of the Boston Book Binding Company and Small, Maynard & Co. of Boston, of which publishing enterprises Norman H. White, Brookline society man, was the owner and directing influence, according to disclosures in police and banking circles today.

The loans advanced by the Boston banks range from $10,000 to $60,000 and some of the outside banks are reported to have been even more liberal.

One outside bank, the Waldo Trust Company in Belfast, Me., in which White was a heavy shareholder, has been forced to suspend, because of the snarled condition of White's publishing affairs in this city.

INVESTIGATION IS MADE.

The Board of Bank Examiners in Maine have started an inquiry and an investigation was launched in Boston today. The methods under which the loans were secured are reported to be under close scrutiny.

Developments of an interesting nature are looked for.

The Boston Book Binding Company and the Small, Maynard Co. filed voluntary petitions in bankruptcy in the Bankruptcy Court in Boston on March 1. Attorney William H. Taylor, of the law firm of Ham, Willard & Taylor, has been appointed receiver and has taken charge of both of White's publishing plants.

President Charles H. Hubbard of the Waldo Trust Company in Maine made this significant statement in a public announcement which followed the closing the doors of the institution in Belfast.

"The liquidation of the Waldo Trust Company will depend upon the liquidation of the Boston firms and also upon the financial status of Mr. White and the Auto Vacuum Freezer Company, both having large loans from here."

In addition to being the largest stockholder in the Waldo Trust Company, White is a trustee.

WHY BANK WAS CLOSED.

President Hubbard of the Waldo Trust Company said White in the capacity of trustee, had made loans to his publishing houses in Boston.

"In the course of the bank's affairs," added President Hubbard, "in liquidating bad loans of previous administrations, White presented the bank with large blocks of stock of both companies which have paid regular and liberal dividends.

"However, when the State bank examiners were in Belfast last week, news of the bankruptcy of those companies was made public and this was responsible for closing our doors. As soon as the news of the bankruptcy was received, the bank officials took the matter up with the bank commissioners and for the best interests of all concerned, it was decided to suspend."

The Boston Book Binding Company and Small, Maynard & Co. had enjoyed enviable reputations in the publishing field in this city for years. Their sudden collapse, without any apparent trade warning, caused a sensation in publishing and banking circles.

White, the owner of both companies, is about 55 years of age and is related to a prominent Boston banker, according to disclosures today.

SOOCHOW, KEY TO SHANGHAI, CAPTURED

London, March 7 (I.N.S.).—The Cantonese have captured Soochow, following a lightning-like thrust across the Lake Taihu district, according to the vernacular press, the Central News correspondent at Shanghai reports.

The report lacks confirmation, but if true it means a severe blow to the forces of General Chang Tsung Chang, since it would mean the cutting of the Shanghai-Nanking railroad.

Americans Alarmed by Threats in Ningpo

Shanghai, China, March 7 (A.P.).—Development of a menacing anti-foreign situation at Ningpo, south of Shanghai, on the coast of Chekiang province, commanded the attention of the British naval authorities here today, and the British flotilla leader H. M. S. Keppel was sent to that port.

Announcement by the Kuomintang (Cantonese left wing) of plans for an anti-imperialist demonstration on a big scale tomorrow has heightened the nervousness of the Americans and British remaining in Ningpo, and several Englishmen left for Shanghai Saturday.

The Cantonese menace to General Chang Tsung-Chang's long lines of communication have doubled by developments along the Yangtse above Nanking. Reports today indicated that Chen Tiao-Yung, Governor of Anhwei, has become actively hostile to Chang.

It is also reported that the Cantonese have reached Taiping, forty miles southwest of Nanking.

Four hundred and thirty Americans remain in Nanking. They have not left the city owing to the accessibility of foreign warcraft in the river should they require a place of refuge.

Mayors Not Dry Judges

Washington, March 7 (A.P.)—The Ohio law permitting mayors to act as judges in prohibition cases was held to be invalid today by the Supreme Court.

2 MANVILLE MILLS CLOSE, 1,400 WORKERS ARE OUT

Providence, March 7 (A.P.).—As a result of the textile strike in Woonsocket, the Social Mill of the Manville-Jenckes company there is closed permanently, and the Globe Plant is closed indefinitely, announced President Frederick L. Jenckes, today, after a conference with a committee of five strikers.

Mr. Jenckes said the committee presented requests for a 48-hour week and a 12 per cent increase in wages. He told them, he said, it was quite impossible for their requests to be granted. The mills employed about 1,400 workers.

outside of Scituate, Chief Michael Stewart and his Scituate policemen had to stand idly by while the Coast Guard, with no restrictions on their field of action, made the raid.

The island was reached by automobiles, the tide being low at the time, but when the start back was made the water had risen and mired in the cars. Coast Guards performed unusual rescue roles in hauling the cars out of the river with ropes.

Trucks were summoned from Boston by Captain J. J. Glynn of the government raiders to carry the seized liquor to the Hub.

The men found in the gunning stand were surprised and made no show of fight. At Marshfield police station they gave their names as John Sullivan, Edward Collins, Charles Corey and William W. Walters, all of Columbus avenue, Boston; William J. Powers of Franklin avenue, Dorchester; Roger Wolfe of North Cohasset, Percy Cram, John J. Sullivan and Joseph Williams of Hull, William J. McCarthy of Cedar street, Belmont; William Keith of Marshfield Hills.

It is the first criminal proceeding against Sinclair to come to trial, although a civil case seeking cancellation of the Teapot lease already has resulted in a government victory in the lower courts and now is pending in the Supreme Court.

Sinclair also has a criminal indictment pending, charging conspiracy with Albert B. Fall, as Secretary of the Interior, to obtain the lease to the Teapot Dome reserve in Wyoming for his Mammoth Oil Company. That case is set down for trial here on April 25.

Tentative selection of twelve veniremen had been concluded within an hour and a half after court convened.

While Mrs. Stoble, Rosa and two other children of Mrs. Stoble were in the kitchen of their home, the quarrel was renewed.

An hour later Mrs. Stoble went to the basement and found Rosa lying on the floor with a newly-born baby in her arms.

Mrs. Stoble ran to the dining room, took a revolver from a drawer, returned to the basement and shot her daughter dead.

The mother begged police to kill her, too. She was charged with murder. The baby was dead when police found it.

31 SPEND PART TIME IN NEW COURSE

Thirty-one Boston High School girls today embarked upon a practical course of training to fit themselves for places in Boston department stores upon graduation.

The girls are students at the Memorial High School, Roxbury, and hereafter they will spend three hours each day in various large department stores, working as clerks, stock girls, accountants, etc.

The course has been arranged by the Boston school department in co-operation with the Retail Trade Board. Co-operating with the school authorities are Jordan Marsh Co., William Filene Sons Co., R. H. White Co., Gilchrist & Co., C. F. Hovey Co., The Shepard Stores, R. H. Stearns Co., E. T. Slattery Co. and Conrad & Co.

The students electing the course appeared at their classrooms at the usual time today.

From the time school opened until 11:30 a. m. they attended four classes—salesmanship, English, economics and store arithmetic. These classes constitute their academic studies for the day and at 11:30 the students set out for the department stores to which they had been assigned.

The students went on duty at the various stores at noon, remaining at work until 3 p. m.

This will constitute the schedule of the students each week day except Saturday and at the completion of the term it is expected the girls will readily find places of employment in the department stores.

Mrs. Mary C. Jennings, salesmanship instructor at the Memorial High School, is in charge of the practical training course.

The course instituted oiday is similar to the co-operative course in salesmanship at the High School of Practical Arts.

BOSTON AMERICAN
LARGEST EVENING CIRCULATION IN NEW ENGLAND
BOSTON, MONDAY, MARCH 7, 1927
GENERAL NEWS SECTION

TO RESIGN ONLY WHEN THE LORD SAYS 'STOP!'

By SEVERANCE JOHNSON.

Washington, March 7.—"Work keeps me young. If I should quit, I would die." Thus Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, "dean" of the United States Supreme Court, who is 86 years old today, has solved the secret of his marvelous youth.

The jurist, whom many regard as the greatest judicial mind in this country, thus explained for the first time why he is always so busy, why he hardly ever misses a session of court, why he is the only member to take notes of its proceedings with his own hand, why he writes opinions more quickly than any of his colleagues, and why, when asked recently whether he expected to resign soon, replied: "No, not until the Almighty, himself, requests it."

The story of the inner life of Justice Holmes also shows how work can keep an old man young. Here is a typical day in Washington, Boston or on the North Shore:

8:00 A. M.—Rises.

8:45 A. M.—Breakfasts on fruit, cereal, toast and coffee.

9:15 A. M.—Works in his library.

EDNA WALLACE HOPPER ESCAPED FAKE 'DUKE'

SHOOK 70-YEAR-OLD SUITOR

Actress and beauty specialist says the real reason she broke her engagement to the Duke de la Chatre, who is now reported to be engaged to Mrs. J. J. Brown of Denver, was that she found the real duke had been dead 25 years, and her fiance was only Baron de Spreig of Belgium.

HERO IN CRASH SAVES 4, THEN GOES TO JAIL

After playing the role of hero in a Quincy shore drive automobile accident in which six people almost lost their lives, James L. Donahue of Beach street, Wollaston, was today sent to the House of Correction for three months on an old charge.

Donahue and Miss Alice Ryan of Marcella street, Cambridge, were guests in a sedan with three Boston men when the car crashed with the machine of Edwin L. Clark, Cliftondale.

Both cars overturned, pinning the occupants in the wreckage, which took fire. Donahue kicked out a plate glass window and crawled to safety. Then he succeeded in pulling Miss Ryan and the men out.

The accident occurred at Shore drive and Vassall street, and when Quincy firemen and the police arrived occupants of both cars were gone.

Quincy police arrested Donahue on a street car on a charge of being intoxicated, while the Metropolitan police took charge of Miss Ryan, who was cut about the head and face. In Quincy court the drunkenness charge was filed, but Judge Avery was informed Donahue was on parole, having been sentenced a year ago to three months in the House of Correction on a larceny charge. The parole was revoked.

The other three men in the wrecked machine were Bradford Rose of Ray street, Roxbury; Richard Armington of Regent place, Roxbury, and Harry Galvin, residence unknown.

U. S. TO RESTORE TWO BIG LINERS TO SERVICE

Washington, March 7 (A.P.)—A complete seurvey, with a view of their ultimate reconditioning and restoration in service with the United States Lines, has been authorized by the Shipping Board for the Liners Mou tnBernon and Agamemnon.

The Mount Vernon formerly was the Kronprinzessin Cecilie and the Agamamnon was the Kaiser Wilhelm II. Both were seized from Germany and used by the navy as transports during the World War. They are of the express trans-oceanic type and have a speed rating of 23½ and 24 knots each.

EDNA WALLACE HOPPER FIRED FRENCH 'DUKE'

Hartford, Ct., March 7 (A.P.).—Edna Wallace Hooper told why her engagement to the Duke De La Chatre of France was broken off last Summer, in commenting on the recent engagement of the Duke to Mrs. J. J. Brown of Denver.

She and the Duke were to be married, she said, when she discovered that the real Duke De La Chatre died twenty-five years ago. The engagement was immediately broken off.

"Why, even the string of titles which are coupled to his name are entirely different from the ones he told me when we were engaged," Miss Hooper said, as she toyed with love letters of the Duke addressed to herself.

"At the time I did not announce my real reason for breaking the engagement," she laughted. "The reason given was taat I refused to give the necessary dowry which in France means money. That was partly true, but the real fact is I learned the seventy-year-old duke was not who he pretends to be, but is really the Baron De Spreig of Belgium."

LAWRENCE CALLS FOR LOCAL SAFETY COUNCIL

Lawrence, March 7 (A.P.)—On the order submitted by Alderman Peter Carr, director of public safety, the City Council, in session here today, authorized Mayor Walter F. Rochefort to call a meeting of representatives interested in public safety to form a permanent organization affiliated with the Massachusetts Safety Council.

Such groups are in force in other parts of the State, and Alderman Carr believes it will cut down the number of accidents from increased automobile traffic.

NINETY HURT, ONE DEAD, IN MEXICAN PICNIC CRASH

Mexico City, March 7 (A.P.)—One dead and ninety injured marked the tragic ending of a picnic yesterday.

Two big motor trucks filled with gay singing persons overturned while going down a steep grade at full speed on the Mexico City-Puebla road and a third truck, also crowded with pleasure seekers, crashed into the overturned behicles.

Forty persons, many of them perhaps fatally injured, were taken to hospitals.

U.S. 'GOOD WILL' FLIER IN SEA

Montevideo, Uruguay, March 7 (A.P.)—One of the American army "goodwill" planes fell into the sea shortly after taking off today for the north. There were no casualties.

Owing to engine trouble, the plane failed to take off cleanly and ran into some rocks in the harbor. The damages were said to be slight, and it is hoped that the flight can be renewed today or tomorrow.

The other two planes returned to await the repairing of their sister ship.

AMBASSADRESS IS 'IN BAD'

New York, March 7 (I.N.S.).—Mme. Alexandra Kollontai, Russian ambassadress to Mexico and first woman to hold an important diplomatic post, has been rebuked by President Calles for the activity of her agents in Mexico spreading the doctrines of Communism in labor circles, according to a statement made here today by Roberto Carrillo, former chief of the Mexican secret service.

Mexico City dispatches have stated Mme. Kollontai plans to return to Moscow because of her health, the Mexico City altitude proving too high for her. According to Carillo there is no question of Mme. Kollontai being persona non grata, but that President Calles advised her his government could not tolerate the activities of her agents.

Six Stores Hit by Fire

Manchester, Ct., March 7 (A.P.).—Fire, caused by an explosion of gasoline in a vulcanizing shop, today did damage estimated at $25,000 to six small stores and the building they occupied in Oak street.

Hamlet ◆ Swears Revenge ◆ Shakespeare's Immortal Tragedy

"He was a man, take him for all in all;
I shall not look upon his like again."

Hamlet, Prince of Denmark, brooded over the mysterious death of his father, the king, and suspected his uncle, Claudius, the present king, of having murdered him.

"All that lives must die,
Passing through nature to eternity."

Hamlet's mother had married Claudius, the brother of her late husband, two months after the latter's death. The king and queen tried in vain to comfort the sombre-garbed Hamlet.

"I could a tale unfold whose lightest word
Would harrow up thy soul."

The ghost of Hamlet's father appeared to him one night on the terrace before the castle. The ghost told how Claudius, the evil brother, had poisoned him as he slept in the garden.

"Oh villain, villain, smiling, damned villain!
That one may smile and smile and be a villain!"

Hamlet vowed to take the life of Claudius to avenge his father, but was in doubt as to the best method to follow. He determined to pretend insanity, in order to allay suspicion.

CHARGES WIFE WITH CRUELTY AND NAGGING

William H. Martin, Jr., a mechanic, of Massachusetts avenue, Back Bay, was worn down by cruelties and nagging of his wife, Anna, he told Judge Dolan in Suffolk divorce court today.

Martin said he had been waked up at midnight and had been obliged to order another man out of the house. During a quarrel over this man, Martin testified, his wife cut his face with a finger nail and snapped his watch chain out of his pocket. The wife is contesting the suit.

Cinderella Doesn't Wear Rubbers, So What's the Idea?

Well—all Jimmie knows is what he sees outside of Medford Hillside, especially in the subway.

He came into the office today and reported astonishment and shock on the part of a girl with a fur coat and a red hat who was coming up out of the Winter street station.

A man ahead of her had dropped off a rubber at the foot of the stairs, and at the top she tapped him and told him of the loss. He looked down to discover he had on but one rubber; then he calmly kicked that one off and walked away.

The girl was so overcome with astonishment that she almost went in and bought herself a blue hat.

CAPTAIN IN HUB RUM CASE IN MORE TROUBLE

New York, March 7 (A.P.)—Captain Browne Willis, under $15,000 bail on a rum smuggling conspiracy charge today at Boston, today faced charges of spiriting away fourteen former members of his crew of the steamer Clara Matthieu, under subpoena to appear before the Federal Grand Jury here last night.

Besides the complaint against him at Boston, Willis is indicted in connection with the landing of 1,500 cases of liquor from his ship at a Hudson River pier in broad daylight December 31.

The latest complaint charges him with obstructing justice in causing the disappearance of the witnesses. Willis is under arrest at the Jewish Memorial Hospital, where he was taken Thursday after having been mysteriously shot twice in the arm in Van Cortlandt Park. His condition is not serious.

Disappearance of the witnesses, the wounding of the captain and information secured by investigation of the alleged rum running case, were regarded as developments that might lead to disclosure of a new international liquor smuggling syndicate.

Although uncounted bootleg reports, gunrunning charges and miscellaneous smuggling complaints are part of the police record against the captain, he has never been convicted.

Captain Browne is under bail on two Federal charges in Boston. He is under $15,000 bond here on the New York charge, the bail being demanded in Boston as a result of his being brought here after his steamer Clara Mathieu was seized off Cuttyhunk.

The captain is also under a bond of $1,500 on the charge of assaulting a Federal customs officer. It is claimed by the government the mariner put up a stiff battle when his vessel was seized and struck one of the customs officers. He was scheduled to appear in Boston on the latter charge on the day he was shot in New York.

Indiana Bank Closes

Columbia City, Ind March 7 (I.N.S.)—The First National Bank of Columbia City, a $1,400,000 institution, closed its doors today. Real estate depression and bad loans were given as the causes of the bank's difficulties.

All Westinghouse Advertising Goes to Newspapers

Pittsburgh, March 6 (A.P.).—A fundamental change in the advertising policy of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, whereby its advertising appropriation will be expended almost entirely for newspaper space, was announced today by J. C. McQuiston, manager of publicity, to take effect April 1.

"Newspapers," Mr. McQuiston said, "seem to offer the only medium by which we can both 'nationalize' and 'localize' our various sales campaigns, thus permitting us to conduct a Nation-wide campaign on products and at the same time vary our program to fit the needs of specific districts."

JUDGE RILEY'S MOTHER DEAD

Mrs. Anna M. Riley, mother of Judge Thomas P. Riley of the Malden District Court, died shortly before midnight at the home of her son, No. 60 Main street, Malden. She was in her eighty-first year.

Judge Riley, who only a few hours earlier had learned of the death of his associate on the bench, Judge Charles M. Bruce, was at his mother's bedside when she passed away, as was his sister, Miss Daisy M. Riley, who lived with her mother and brother.

Mrs. Riley was the widow of Patrick J. Riley of Malden. Besides her son and daughter in Malden, she is survived by another daughter, Mrs. Alfred J. Adams of Los Angeles, Calif.

Members of the bench and bar throughout the State mourned today the passing of Judge Bruce, who died at his home, No. 155 Hawthorne street, Malden, after an illness of eight months.

Funeral services will be held at the Universalist Church, Malden, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Judge Bruce was sixty-two years old. He was appointed a judge in the Malden Court in 1907 after having served several years as an associate justice.

TWO TOWNS ISOLATED BY BIG SNOW BLOCKADE

Denver, Col., March 7 (A.P.)—Mining communities in the San Juan basin of Southwestern Colorado today are isolated by the worst snow blockade in two decades.

With highways and railroads to Silverton and Eureka blocked by huge drifts and slides for more than three weeks, high winds through five passes on the Continental Divide closed aid lanes to aviators.

An 18-inch snowfall Saturday added new burdens to the work of crews attempting to open the railroad to Silverton.

In Medano Pass, aviators estimated the wind velocity at 120 miles an hour. The temperature was more than 30 degrees below zero.

SEVEN MAINE CITIES ELECTING MAYOR TODAY

Portland, Me., March 7 (A.P.)—Municipal elections were held today in seven Maine cities. In addition, at special elections in Waterville and Biddeford vacancies in the Legislature, caused by the deaths of Representatives from those cities, were being filled.

Mayors Robert J. Wiseman, Democrat, of Lewiston, and John G. Smith, Republican, of Saco, were unopposed. In Ellsworth, Frank L. Heath, Democrat, who served as Mayor seven years ago, had no opposition. Mayors Herbert C. Libbey, Waterville, and George H. Minot, South Portland, Republicans; Charles H. Cahill, Bath, and Frank A. Havey, Eastport, Democrats, faced contests.

AUTO KILLS WOMAN AUTHOR IN LONDON

London, March 7 (A.P.)—Mrs. Beatrice Heron-Maxwell, author, journalist and dramatist, died today from injuries received when she was struck by a motor car in London.

A daughter of the late E. B. Eastwick, member of Parliament, her first husband was Lane Huddart of Wales, by whom she had two daughters. Her second husband was S. H. W. Heron-Maxwell, son of Sir John Heron-Maxwell, sixth baronet of Springkell.

MARINES READY TO FIRE UPON NICARAGUANS

Managua, Nic., March 7 (A.P.)—United States Marines—135 of them—are on the way to Matagalpa to protect Americans there from fighting between the Liberal and Conservative factions.

Major H. G. Bartlett, in charge of the contingent, has made it known a note will be sent immediately to General Moncada, chief Liberal military leader, that if the Liberals attack Matagalpa they will be fired on, as the Marines are being sent for the express purpose of preventing combats that might jeopardize the lives and interests of Americans.

The Major was talking to the Liberal mission, which met the Marines while returning from Muy Muy after unsuccessful peace discussions with General Moncada. In connection with Major Bartlett's remarks the mission, on its return to Managua recalled that in the interview with General Moncada Friday he declared the Liberals doubtless would continue fighting until the United States actually declared armed intervention or fired on Liberal forces.

The General said he was unwilling in any circumstances to fight the United States, and the Liberal mission hold the opinion that if the United States were to declare actual intervention and temporarily take charge of Nicaraguan affairs, peace would follow immediately.

1,200 More Marines Due at Corinto

Corinto, Nic., March 7 (A.P.)—The United States transport Henderson, with about 1,200 marines aboard, is expected here today.

The British cruiser Colombo, which anchored off Corinto a week ago, to afford a refuge for British citizens if that became necessary, has departed. Just where the warship is going is not known here.

WOOD PROBES DUCKING OF FILIPINOS' TEACHER

Manila, March 7 (A.P.).—The Times says Principal James A. Wright of the Trinidad Farm School at Baguio not only was tied to a post by rioting students but also was ducked in a brook. An investigation has been ordered by Governor General Wood.

A dispatch to the Times developed that Wright was rescued from the students by a woman friend and a party of her acquaintances. It previously was reported his wife had effected the rescue. Wright is not married.

A New Record In the Progress of the BOSTON AMERICAN

IN its Motor Show number of Saturday, March 5, the Boston Evening American published 12,345 lines of automotive advertising—the greatest volume ever published by the Evening American in any one issue.

THIS is a convincing demonstration of the growing appreciation of the Boston American on the part of automotive advertisers. They quickly sense increasing newspaper values and capitalize such genuine progress as the American has made since the last Automobile Show.

CHARGES HUBBY 'ANNOYED HER LADY FRIENDS'

Attentions she alleged he forced upon her women friends made up part of the testimony in Middlesex Probate Court today that brought Mrs. Ethel M. Forte of Wollaston, former high school teacher, a divorce from Louis B. Forte of Newton.

Judge John C. Leggat also awarded Mrs. Forte the custody of Everett Forte, two and one-half years old, the only child, and alimony of $10 a week for the boy's support.

The former school teacher testified that when she rebuked her husband for annoying her women friends, he told her that he would make her life "a living hell."

She said she left him last November.

HUB PROVINCIAL IN ITS TRAFFIC, SAYS JOHNSON

Boston's failure to relieve the vehicular congestion in the down town district leaves her open to the charge that she is provincial, was the frank criticism of George B. Johnson, president of R. H. White Company, who has just returned from a trip around the world.

"I feel I can bring a world-wide point of view to bear on traffic matters," he said. "When I came back from South America in 1923 I told of the wonderful avenue in Rio de Janerio and the several in Buenos Aires that had literally been carved out of densely built sections. In 1925 I saw the Kingsway cut out of the very heart of London.

"On this trip I saw the principal street of Tokyo which is a number of miles long and more than 100 feet wide. In Shanghai from the foreign residential section down to the business section is a similar street. In Calcutta they have demolished acres of buildings and have finished or have under construction a most complete plan of wide streets.

NO PROBLEM IN PARIS.

"It is half a century since Baron Haussmann laid out the boulevards in Paris and there is practically no traffic problem there today.

"At home—Detroit and St. Louis are planning on a big scale. But Boston does nothing. Now we hear a lot about the decadence of New England and this includes Boston. There is far too much of this for our own good. And the survey made by the New England Conference shows no justification for it.

"But I can't escape the conviction that Boston failure to do something in our downtown business district leaves her open to the charge that she is provincial and is failing to do something urgently needed.

"If Boston persists in this policy of inaction the future of the city is going to be seriously injured. I feel so keenly on the subject that I am anxious to say and do anything I can to bring about the needed improvements."

TRAINS MORE COMFORTABLE.

Comparing our railroads with those of Europe, Mr. Johnson surprised his interviewers with the statement that he found European trains more comfortable than those in this country.

"Our trains too often start with a jolt and stop with a bang. This is particularly irritating at night, when one is trying to sleep. In India we rode nearly 2,000 miles in trains and not once did we have a jolt in starting or a bang in stopping."

Shanges of great significance, political, social and industrial, are taking place in India, and there is no sign of war, he said.

During his stay in Shanghai, Mr. Johnson observed that the "British Dollar" dominates, and that America leads in religious and medical education of the heathens.

"The average Englishman in Shanghai has a real, downright contempt of Americans and I heard that the Englishman believes, and he doesn't hesitate to say, that our contact with the Chinese is for the purpose of gaining their favor and to place England in the 'bad books' of the Chinese."

Mrs. Johnson and Samuel T. Patterson accompanied Mr. Johnson on the trip.

Irish Fund Case Held Up, Waiting for De Valera

New York, March 7 (A.P.)—Eamon De Valera, only president of the Irish Republic, failed to appear in the Supreme Court today when the suit brought by the Irish Free State against the Guaranty Safe Deposit Company to obtain possession of $2,500,000, the proceeds of the sale of bonds here to help finance the revolution, was called. De Valera was to have testified.

An array of counsel appeared today ready to go on, but Justice Erlander put it over until tomorrow because interested parties were not ready.

44 GAMBLERS IN DORCHESTER FINED $335

There were few deuces wild in Dorchester court today, Judge Joseph R. Churchill holding the white hand with thirty-one fives and thirteen tens, not to mention one fine of $50.

The court raked in a pot of $335 in the morning's luck, which was pretty good considering that he was confronted by fory-four players.

He fined Alexander Gesner of Minot street, Neponset, $50 for maintaining a gambling nuisance, and assessed another $5 fine on him for gaming.

Twenty-nine other men alleged to have been in Gesner's Sunday party were fined $5 each for taking part in a game of dice.

These thirty men were arrested during a police headquarters vice squad raid on a gymnasium at Minot street and Neponset avenue, when $1,500 on the table was seized. The police still have the $1,800.

Sergeant Cornelius Shea of the Fields Corner station personally conducted another party of six in the court session, all six being taken at a card game in Boston street, Dorchester. Five were fined $10 for gaming and the other was fined $5 for being present at a game.

Throwing dice in Mattapan being just as serious, Patrolman Walter Sumner of that precinct brought in three men and watched them peel off $10 each and donate the plasters to the county.

Then the morning's game ended.

NEW CYCLONE HITS MADAGASCAR ISLAND

St. Denis, Reunion Island, March 7 (A.P.).—A new cyclone of great intensity, following that of last Thursday, is menacing this island. It is feared that it has swept over the island of Madagascar, where there were many deaths and extensive property damage in last week's cyclone.

As yet there is no report as to the exact number of dead on Madagascar, but there is confirmation that the town of Tamatave, on the East Coast, was virtually wiped out by Thursday's storm. Several small steamers expected here are missing. It is feared the steamer Sainte Anne, from Madagascar, has been lost with all aboard.

ALICE WANTS $5,000 MORE FOR KIP FEES

White Plains, N. Y., March 7. (I.N.S.).—Alice Jones Rhinelander, estranged wife of the wealthy Leonard Kip Rhinelander, today filed an application in the Supreme Court here for $5,000 additional counsel fees. Counsel fees amounting to $18,500 have already been granted her, and she is getting $300 a month alimony.

A NEIGHBORLY WORD

TO

MR. STATLER

DEAR MR. STATLER:

WE have known for many years the romantic history of your great hotels and the development of Statler service as the acme of the modern inn-keeper's art—the science of expert and hospitable entertainment.

We have lived in your hotels. We have observed that in Cleveland, Buffalo, St. Louis, Detroit and New York the opening of a new Statler Hotel has greatly added to the importance of those cities. In each city your hotels have added public service facilities for comfort, enjoyment, and for business to which the nation contributes while your neighbors for hundreds of miles roundabout share the benefits.

For these reasons we are proud—and glad—that you have chosen to give New England the greatest achievement of your career in the service of the public—here to build your greatest hotel—your most expansive and sumptuous investment in the business to which you have devoted your life.

We feel that you, personally, have brought another world-famous public service organization—a new industry in itself—to New England. We know that you have enriched New England's vast resources by many millions of dollars. We know that, as you prosper, New England will share not only the business you create but the All-New England service which Boston's great Statler Hotel and Office Building is equipped to render.

We appreciate and realize the tremendous strain under which you have worked in assuming this great undertaking, every detail of which you have supervised and directed personally.

And so we—and all your business neighbors in the Park Square District for whom we speak—wish to congratulate you on the completion of your largest and finest hotel.

As neighbors we welcome you to Boston and to Park Square and as neighbors we take the friendly liberty of placing before the public this little tribute to you as a benefactor of New England, as a builder of a greater Boston, and as an eminent host who now extends Boston's welcome to the world. We are sure that the business interests of Boston will strive to make this the most successful of all Statler enterprises, and we congratulate you sir, on your unbounding confidence in New England. Cordially yours,

MRS. SCHLEY IN 15-STORY DROP TO DEATH

New York, March 7 (A.P.)—Mrs. Nathalie Seible Schley, widow of Buchanan Schley, Jr., who was deputy collector of the port of Baltimore in the administration of President Cleveland, died today after a fall or leap from a fifteenth floor window of the Hotel Buckingham, West 57th street.

The body, fully clothed, was found on a roof over an extension on the second floor by her son, Buchanan Schley, a cotton broker, who lived in a suite with his mother.

Schley knocked at his mother's door to greet her, and, receiving no response, walked in. Looking out of the open window, he saw her body.

Mrs. Schley's husband, who died on Nov. 15, was for twenty years a member of the New York Cotton Exchange and a first cousin of the late Rear Admiral Schley of Spanish War fame.

ONE DEAD, 1 WOUNDED IN ATTEMPT TO BOMB CHURCH

San Francisco, March 7 (A.P.)—The silence of death and the reticence of a wounded man forced the San Francisco police today to look for "higher ups" in their effort to find a motive for the fifth and latest attempt to bomb the SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church in the Latin Quarter here.

The dead man, who has not been identified, but is believed to be G. Nicci, a fanatic street speaker, and his suspected accomplice, were caught in a police trap, one being shot to death in the shadow of the church after he had tossed a dynamite bomb at the entrance and fled.

WARM, CLOUDY WEATHER TO LINGER FOR WHILE

A storm area off Nantucket and two similar disturbances converging in New England from the west and southwest guarantee Greater Boston 36 hours more of comparative warmth, according to the weather bureau. Cloudy skies and occasional showers are expected to accompany the moderate elevation in temperature, but clearing weather is promised for Wednesday. Forecast for Boston and vicinity:

Mostly cloudy and continued warm tonight and Tuesday, probably with light rain; increasing southerly winds shifting to westerly Wednesday.

EIGHT DENOMINATIONS IN "FELLOWSHIP" MEETING

Representatives of eight denominations in religion will answer the question: "Who Is My Neighbor?" next Monday night at 8 o'clock in Mt. Vernon Church, Massachusetts avenue and Beacon street, at the third of a series of meetings held under auspices of the Fellowship of Faiths.

The eight faiths represented will include Protestant, Roman Catholic, Greek-Orthodox, Mohammedan, Hindu, Confucian, Quaker and Jew. Admission is free, but reserved seats will be held until 7:50 p. m.

'CAN'T GIVE UP WORK,' SAYS HOLMES, 86

had what he called a rusty hinge in his back, lumbago, I reckon it was, but he's got rid of that. Worked it off, I reckon.

"As for eating, he's certainly good at that, too. He eats everything."

Dr. Adams has been physician to many eminent men at the National capital. He is well known as a medical authority in this part of the United States. For many years he has been chief of the department of medicine of Georgetown University. Continuing, he said:

"I have often observed that men of advanced years who quit work to take things easy grow old much faster. I have two men in mind as examples. Their wives persuaded them to give up business and devote themselves to social recreation. They did. Both are dead."

CAN KILL BY WORK

"Of course a man either old or young can kill himself with overwork. He must use common sense. He must guard against such excess the same as any other.

"There are many recipes for longevity. Practically all are worthless. The most important thing is the stock from which a man springs. If his ancestors were long lived, as the result of good and simple living, his own chances of long life are a great deal better. Justice Holmes comes of such stock. His father lived to be more than eighty-five and was active, I understand, up to his last days."

DRIVING SPIRIT.

A high official of the court who has known Justice Holmes ever since he was appointed by President Roosevelt said:

"He gets his driving spirit from his soldier days. There he learned that one must not only do the job right but do it before the other side can do it."

Justice Holmes finds a profound delight and relaxation in works of art. His only hobby, he confesses, is the collection of old prints, which are to be seen everywhere throughout the house. To Walter Tittle, when the latter was making a sketch of him, he explained:

"I am an amateur, not a collector, of the kind who values things for their rarity. The impressions of Goya that I possess, for instance, are the modern reprints, but they give me just as much joy as the old and very expensive ones. I have no ambition to be a trustee for posterity. I collect for the pleasure the things themselves give me."

FLEES HOSPITAL COT TO ESCAPE CUSTODY

The last seen of Wallace Sullivan of Ruggles street, Roxbury, he was heading toward the great open spaces. Wallace was arrested by police of the Roxbury Crossing division on a drunkenness charge, but his condition warranted him being sent to the accident ward in City Hospital. While there he heard the police telephone instructions to hold him; whereupon Wallace leaped from his bed, dashed across the hospital grounds, scaled the wall, and away.

national improvements and his capacity to deal with national problems. Millions of business men and taxpayers, big and little, would choose Mellon because of his work in after the war finance. He has handled the country's chief business, FINANCE, with great skill, reducing the National debts by many billions and simultaneously reducing taxes.

THERE ARE the usual dozen or more dark horses, some spending good money already, directed by ingenious managing exploiters, but they will probably remain dark. The winner is probably included in the following list—Coolidge, Mellon, Hoover, Lowden, Dawes—with Coolidge in a position to take it if he wants it.

NO MATTER who takes it, it will be a very exciting campaign, or a completely dull one—exciting if Governor Smith is named by Democrats, dull beyond words, if he is not nominated.

A man who owns many newspapers and knows politics, says "Smith is the only Democrat that would have any chance. He would have an excellent chance to carry New York, Massachusetts, Illinois. Add the South, he would win."

RECENTLY aristocratic Tories went speech-making on soap boxes in Hyde Park, competing with Communists. Premier Baldwin says the Tory M. P.'s "knocked the Communists right off their own pitch." One Tory drew a soap box crowd of 2,000 away from fervid radicals near him, and Baldwin says aristocrats should take heed and talk often to the h-dropping rabble.

RENAN SAYS the same, in his life of Saint Paul. He describes, in Chapter 8, Marcus Annaeus Novatus, elder brother of Seneca, who took the name of Gallio, and was Roman proconsul in Corinth, hearing the accusation of Sosthenes, new chosen head of the Corinth synagogue, against Saint Paul.

Gallio, a Roman of great culture and erudition dismissed the case haughtily, telling Paul and Sosthenes he had no time to waste on their petty quarrels.

"HE WOULD have been wiser," says Renan, "had he shown less disdain. It was proved later that this quarrel of sectarians was the great affair of the century. One of the things that cause aristocrats to make serious mistakes is the superficial repulsion inspired in them by inferiors. And nearly always, without knowing it, they pass by the man that is creating the future."

GALLIO SAW "Saint Paul only a wild-eyed radical, seeking to change human beliefs." Some of us may be taking an equally foolish view of certain Russians.

M. MILLET, French Scientist, would tear down the honey bee's reputation built up by Maeterlinck, Lubbock and many others, back to Aristotle.

The bee is a dull, mechanical creature, says Millet; it does not know that it pollenizes flowers and blossoms, does not even know which flowers have honey, think only of getting sugar and sees none of the flower's beauty.

YOU can say the same of our human honey bees of industry. They build up civilization, make wealth, leisure and culture possible, but they don't know it, or don't care. They also are "only looking for sugar."

But like the bee, they are doing the work for which the Lord created them, and that's sufficient.

SELFISHNESS is the World's peacemaker. Britain, accusing Russia of stirring up trouble in China threatened to end all relations. Russian newspapers, indignant as men often are, when the truth is told, suggested war, in a hurry.

LLOYD GEORGE says no war will come of the talk. Russia and Britain will continue to do business "because they need each other."

This country also will resume official relations with Russia, after other nations have got about all there is to get.

Is Your Hair Dry?

If your hair is dry after a shampoo, and the dryness persists after the first day or two, it is probably due to inactivity of the oil glands, or other more serious causes, requiring special care and treatment.

ALBA CREAM

has a base, lanoline, the nearest approach to the natural oil found in the human scalp. Rubbed into the scalp after shampooing, or when the scalp feels dry to the touch, it nourishes the follicles, gives a natural gloss to the hair and will produce a new growth.

Dear Anne:

Don't you feel like a big bear who has climbed out of its Winter den and sits in the sun cleaning, grooming, polishing and scouring itself in good order for Spring? From tip to toe, from attic to cellar we're at it. And first of all comes

Hair

For Winter is unkind to hair. Dusty soot, tight hats, lack of air and sun make oily hair too oily, dry hair too dry and something must be done. It's a case of the Jane Curran shampoos, pomades and tonics. They are the standard, you know, and good beginnings bring the best results. Is your hair dry and lifeless? 'Tis Jane Curran's Falling Hair and Dry Scalp Tonic you need ($2.50). Is it oily and irritated? Then call in the Jane Curran Powder, a dry shampoo, which cleans it and keeps it fluffy without stimulating the oil glands into activity. But it's a vast subject, the Jane Curran preparations for the hair—and the best way to get advice is to go to headquarters—Meyer Jonasson's toilet goods department, and find out about them there.

At Miss Wiggin's

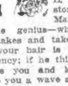
We'll consider the general ensemble. The hat, coat and dress to make the costume complete, beginning, of course, with the hat. For the last six weeks, Miss Wiggin has been flying to New York — more dresses each trip, more smart Spring coats—but always and ever more hats. Felts, shaped to the head, or ready to wear—crocheted viscas, frosted felts and snappy creations of ribbon. Hats from $10.50 up. Big hats, little hats, sport hats, dress hats and exactly the hat that's needed to put over big one of those stunning sport coats. And "Miss Wiggin's for Hats" is a slogan which has kept many a woman in the inner circle of style. (Fourth floor, Lawrence Building, 149 Tremont street.)

Barbara's Discovered

That Filene's carry the Hilda Lee Beauty preparations, too. She's as pleased as though she made them herself.

"This Daytime Tissue Cream," she says, "is what gives me my radiant complexion, protecting the skin from the wind, dust and cold, and giving an ideal base for the powder. (75c and $1.50 a jar.) This Astringent Cuticle Lotion keeps my pores nice and small, but clean as a whistle. It tightens the cuticle, makes the contour firm and round—($1.00.) And the Bedtime Cream puts my skin to bed, in a blanket which soothes and refreshes. So, of course, if I do say so, my complexion is perfectly lovely." The modern girl, Anne, knows what she wants and then she gets it.

Marcels

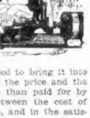


Are beginning to waver. Marcels are beginning to thaw. And one just naturally plays longingly with the thought of a permanent. Yes, it's about time to get a permanent. And isn't it strange how trustingly, confidently and happily we go to get it—straight to L. Max (154 Boylston street). L. Max — the artist —the genius—who makes no mistakes and takes no chances. If your hair is the right consistency; if he thinks it will become you and knows he can give you a wave as natural as a baby's first curls, you are among the blessed, and will possess the wave of your dreams. But if not —no. So if you want to be sure—phone Beach 2691 for an appointment—and get his advice.

"Nultra Cold Cream—

Where is it? I want the Nultra Cold Cream." How many times that call goes ringing through the house. It's supposed to be mine, that Nultra Cold Cream, and remain on my dresser. But it wanders. Oh, how it wanders. Off with John for his morning shave—Then into Steve's room to take care of cracked lips, a couple of bruises and two small hands that got painfully chapped. Everybody loves my Nultra Cold Cream. Everybody borrows it. But everybody can just as well go to D. R. Emerson's, on Temple place, and get a jar for themselves, for the price of $1.00.

"Spring Again!" You Groan



And hundreds of others groan with you. Spring brings a mountain of sewing which smothers the homemaker for months to come. Gingham dresses, fresh underwear, linen to be overhauled and new curtains for half the rooms. Staggering thought. And yet we must take the plunge, for it cannot be helped.

But wait. Can't it? Do you know about the Willcox & Gibbs Electric Automatic Portable Sewing Machine which makes sewing a pleasure, which runs through seam after seam with no effort at all and produces lovely new dresses before you know it? It sews electrically—from any light socket in the house, steadily, silently, and costs but a cent for every four hours of motion. Every action is quick, easy and self-regulating.

The cost, my dear. You're worrying about the cost. But only a small initial payment is needed to bring it into your home. Your old machine is taken as part of the price and the rest paid in convenient monthly payments. More than paid for by the saving on your energy, on the difference between the cost of ready-made clothing and those you make at home, and in the satisfaction of having enough dainty, new and modish dresses for all the children and yourself at once.

The Willcox & Gibbs Sewing Machine Company, 111 Summer street, will gladly send you an illustrated, descriptive folder of their electric machine with an explanation of a most unusual offer and their convenient payment plan. You may see it in Booth 27 at the Home Beautiful Exposition in Mechanics Hall—or have a machine sent to you for a free trial.

Cameos Ride on Fashion's Crest

Once more. Cameos with their exquisite carving, preserving through the ages figures symbolic, mythological and heroic. Dynasties rise and fall, nations conquer or are crushed—but the cameo is never buried too deep to find its way to fashion's favor from time to time. It's here now—stronger than ever. A lovely cameo, carved with rare genius, encircled with a setting of filigree gold, adds a grace, a charm, a lovely distinction to the throat lines of Milady—a fact which she fully appreciates right now.

And such a cameo we found at Filene's jewelry department. Not one, but many. Trays of them, every size and every shape, gathered together for the event of the week—the great cameo sale. Cameos of shell, in rich carnelian color, wonderfully carved by artists across the sea. Set in 14 karat white or green gold—yet marked to a price unbelievable. Great brooches for $14.85; those a little smaller but $10.85 and the smallest size—the size most convenient of all—only $4.85 during the days of the sale. This smallest size when set in 10 karat green gold are $3.15. All except these have a ring pendant.

But Paris decrees one's jewelry must be in ensemble—repeating the design elsewhere—one's ring must match one's brooch. So Filene's foreign buyer procured cameo rings—wonderfully carved in settings of white, rose or green gold, for the price of $4.85. These pieces, the brooch and the ring, are among the choicest touches in the styles for Spring.

Rose Landsberg Is in Town

The same Rose Landsberg you have known so many years and whose hats you have proudly worn throughout the seasons. Yes, lovely Rose Landsberg and her daughter, Dora, have just opened a millinery salon in Room 406, 8 Winter street. And hats. Hats on every pillar and post. Hats tucked away in nooks and corners, or hidden in deep drawers. Hats that only the genius of Rose Landsberg could create—with the technique of twenty-seven years' experience behind her. The latest modes, the last whisper from Parisian designers, adapted, molded, fashioned and finished with that exquisite touch which distinguishes her work.

I had the privilege of watching her actually create a stunning model before my eyes. A customer came in, chose a hood of softest French felt and sat happily before one of those crystal clear mirrors, while Rose Landsberg clipped, fitted, tucked and draped it into a hat which suited her to perfection. Then the trimming—a wealth of new motifs to draw from—and the hat was ready for the workrooms. And this goes on all day—hats for the girl—bobber type, long-haired type, short, tall and divinely fair. Hats for the matron—hats for you, hats for me—in fact, hats ready made, or ready-to-be-made, for us all.

But you can't have a hat that doesn't quite suit, or you don't fully like. Rose Landsberg won't let you walk out of the shop with it unless it is all that you wanted it to be and that's the great reason she has kept the original clientele of twenty-seven years ago and added steadily to it as the seasons have gone by.

Spring Coats at Knock-Out Prices

Are being featured at Silver's Specialty Shop this week. The Silvers have returned from New York with a shop full of stunning coats and dresses. And they're throwing open their doors for the beginning of the Spring season with a value that will take your breath away. Anne—those coats are going to be sold for $24.75. A gorgeous piece of news with Easter just over the hill. Smart, stylish coats of that lovely all-wool Summer twill which won't wrinkle or grow shiny—a new fabric used mostly for the most expensive models. They are made long, for the advantage of the taller woman, and come in two different models—side pleats—embroidered touches—and a line that is beauty itself. In colors of Sand, the new Palmetto Green or Navy. Beautiful, beautiful coats—lined with an all-silk satin which is guaranteed to give two years' satisfactory wear. Oh, what a start that gives us on our buying!

And girls—listen to this. For you, Silver's have brought back sport coats of Kasha for the price of $24.75, too. They come with or without fur trimming in black and white, the natural kasha or in the rookie shade. Are they smart? Do they have the swagger swing and dashing air you like? Yes, they certainly do. Oh, if you get your Spring coat at Silver's, Room 502, Blake Building, 59 Temple place, you've bought a coat that's the pride of your life for months and seasons to come.

Below-Cost Prices

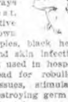
Are clearing out some of the lovely dresses at Mlle. Claff's Corset and Gown Shop, on the second floor of the Berkeley Building, 420 Boylston street. And if you want to take advantage of "exclusive shop" merchandise at really low cost, this is the time to do it. Unusual jerseys are now $8.75, lovely crepe-de-chines over silk slips are $12.75 and our beloved kashas are $18.50 instead of $29.50 as before.

The miracle of modern scientific fitting—in corsets or corselettes—you'll see that there, too. Your hips reduced from two to three inches in a single fitting. And your purse not much the lighter. Because garments that were $15 are now $8.50; those $25 are now $12.50 and everything else is reduced in proportion.

The Wanderlust

Has caught us again—the longing to wander far into the world's wonder gardens—to Switzerland with her blue lakes her green valleys, silvery peaks—her dark, deep forests permeated with the fragrance of the balsam. That's it—the balsam, the tonic of the balsam—the quiet, peace and utter relaxation—atune with the infinite. And this is the reason Swiss Pine Bath has taken such a hold on weary folk like you and me. For hidden within its emerald drops are the oils of pine needles, which relieve fatigue and induce sleep; the ozone of the air cures of the Swiss Pinelands and the pure, clean fragrance of the forests. For $2.00 this delight will be yours. A generous sized bottle with enough for twelve or more baths. At Filene's you will find it, in the toilet goods department.

Under the Rays



You go, my Anne. Under the rays at Mertin's, to bathe your scalp in light. A brilliant light, which pours down upon the pores into the roots and tissues the healing, stimulating, reviving power such as comes from the sun itself. The ultra violet-rays—the purest, most effective treatment known for acne, pimples, black heads, large pores and skin infections. The treatment used in hospitals here and abroad for rebuilding blood and tissues, stimulating growth and destroying germ diseases. And Mertin's, you know, are skin and scalp specialists of high reputation. (3rd floor, Dexter Bldg., 453 Washington Street.)

You'll Be Thinking

Of dresses about now, Anne. You'll be guiding me gently to Evelyn's. And you'll be asking to see her prettiest dresses, for you want one especially for Easter. Well, there's this model of navy blue georgette and lace, exquisitely developed in knife pleating—a dress in the $35 class, which Evelyn sells for $19.50. Here's another of printed chiffon, worn with or without its dainty navy georgette jacket. There's one trimmed with scarlet, another with tailored bows. Oh, Evelyn has a marvelous collection of darlings at $19.50. Sh-h! Listen! She has exquisite boleros of printed crepe with navy or black on the $8.95 racks and her $12.95's are newly restocked, too. Spring dresses are in full bloom at Evelyn's, 8 Winter Street.

An Anniversary Sale

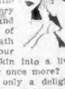
Is in full swing at Landfield's, 3rd floor, 8 Winter Street. A sale which brings the whole stock down to give away prices and lasts for two weeks — until March 19. The best way to give you an idea what's happening is to list the items just as I receive them. Full fashioned Prime silk hose, one pair of chiffon hose free with every two pair at $1.39. All silk sheer chiffon with welt, regular $2.00 stockings, for $1.35, 3 pair for $3.75; regular $2.00 all silk service with welt, $1.35. All silk sheer chiffon, toe to top $1.45 ($2.25 value), 3 pair for $4.20—Oh, dear, my space is used and I can't tell you the rest. About other items, free repairing, and 100% pure silk underwear reduced just to half. But don't miss it. That would be fatal.

We've Been Hearing

Of a wonderful jelly which heals and soothes people's hurts—and they say it's "Wonder Balm." We've been hearing of chapped hands and faces quite cured—and they whisper "Wonder Balm." We've heard tales of burns, by sun and fire—of itches and rashes relieved—and they tell of "Wonder Balm."

So we brought home a jar from T. D. Whitney's, 37 Temple Place. A $1.00 jar with a nice gold label, full of transparent, delightfully pungent jelly. The time came—it always does—when someone's hands were rough and sore, with angry irritation. Then "Wonder Balm" made them cool and well. So we were very grateful, and tried it on our own hands. It made them white and smooth, and then we believed—we knew it was good—and we bought us another jar.

Yes, It's True



Virozol Swedish Face Bath and the Virozol Almond Cream have walked right into the heart of C. F. Hovey's toilet goods department, just as you said. Isn't it remarkable how wonderfully popular it is? Have you ever fathomed the mystery of it—how and why a touch of this magic bath transforms your weary dusty skin into a living blooming thing once more? Apparently it is only a delightful and refreshing astringent—yet within a few days the little net work of wrinkles are smoothed away and one's brow becomes clear, serene and untroubled, with the roses creeping back. Part of it is due, I know, to the Swedish Almond Cream—and I'm so glad you discovered that Hovey's carry them both, the Face Bath at $1.25 and the Cream for $1.00.

Faithfully yours,

Priscilla

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY

Italian Luncheon at Club Marco Tomorrow to Benefit the Christopher Shop

A FEAST OF EPICUREAN delights is tomorrow's Italian luncheon at the Club Marco given for the Christopher Shop. It commences with one of those savory soups, of the sort to be found simmering on every peasant hearth through the sunny land. Follows the Italian chief dish, spaghetti, flavored and garnished to special excellence by the master hand of Signor Caproni's chef. Signor Caproni is donor of the feast and himself sees to it that his chef prepares the dishes in true Italian style. There is also a salad, freshly crisp and rich in those tangy ingredients the Italian delights in. And to top off the feast comes a dessert done in the Italian national colors, red, white and green, planned as the big surprise of the day.

ALONG WITH THESE very special dishes there will be some very special guests to grace the feast. The Marchese and Marchesa Ferranti have places at the head table. Also the Signora Caproni, Mrs. Thomas Motley, Jr., and William Mayo. Miss Elinor Jackson will preside, as at the two previous luncheons. A bevy of girls, tricked out in yellow aprons and caps who will help serve are Miss Marjorie Fuller, Miss Molly Walcott, Miss Elinor Holton, Miss Marie Louise Gray, Miss Margaret Wentworth, Miss Eleanor Drinkwater, Miss Susan Blake and Miss Clara Dupee.

ALSO MISS ELIZABETH GARDINER, Miss Marjorie Morrill, Miss Nancy Morison, Miss Sally Parker, Miss Helen Seymour, Miss Virginia Curtin, Miss Leonora Dedons de Pierrefeu and Miss Dolores Dedons de Pierrefeu with perhaps one or two others of the debutantes. Mrs. J. Pennington Gardiner is directing these young set attendants. Italian flags will add a bit of fete day color to the Club Marco's already atmospherically perfect interior. For an Italian luncheon the Club Marco is a perfect setting, with its old world mellowness invitingly colorful.

QUITE A GEM in its way is tomorrow's matinee of drama, music and poetry at the Repertory Theatre and sufficiently appealing for its own sake to the local literate even though such a fine organization as the Camp Fire Girls were not to benefit thereby. And after an hour or two with the muses the gentle custom of afternoon tea takes place, in the Theatre's perfectly appointed tearoom. Although the guest performers have been widely announced, such important people deserve one more recounting. This is it. Alan Farnham's violin, Henry Jewett's Shakesperean readings and Dana Sieveling's dancing lend variation of a program in which poets predominate.

A QUINTET of these will grace the stage—Major Curtis H. Page, enthusiastically described as a poet of distinction and a "fine old Southern gentleman" with all that such a title implies. Mrs. John J. White, founder of New York's Colony Club; Mrs. Dwight Whitney Morrow and Mrs. Isabel Fiske Conant, each with a metropolitan background; Leighton Rollins, maker of masques and pageants. Mrs. Sally Lawrence accompanies and Miss Lotta Clark presides. The more-than-a-hundred sponsors is overwhelmingly distinctive. The very handsome young matron, Mrs. Daniel Comstock, is down as one. Mrs. Philip Saltonstall, Mrs. Roland G. Hopkins and Mrs. Archibald Mains pour tea, and Junior League girls pass it. Altogether it promises well and advance interest is very keen.

BOSTON HAS now another reason to be proud of its championship skaters, Mrs. Teresa Weld Blanchard and Nathaniel W. Niles. Against the very keenest of competition from the very finest amateur figure skaters of the North American continent, they carried off second honors in pair skating at Toronto. Still another Skating Club member now rejoicing in honors gained at Toronto is that youthful whirlwind on skates, Miss Maribel Vinson. She came off well up in the front ranks in the women's singles, an enviable achievement considering the galaxy of stars gathered for this figure skating contest. Mrs. Blanchard and Mr. Niles are champions of several years standing, and Miss Vinson is one of the younger performers possessing the championship form.

DURING THE PALM BEACH stay of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hill Thorndike and their daughter, Miss Isabel Thorndike, Mr. Thorndike was elected to temporary membership in that lively organization, the Everglades Club. The Everglades does much to give special charm to life as lived in the Florida Riviera. The social pageant passes through its colorful confines all as a part of the continuous and happy routine of pleasure that leads the Palm Beach smart set from one rendezvous to another. The Thorndikes have now returned North.

Society leader's name appears on the list of the more than one hundred patrons for tomorrow's Literary Matinee for the Camp Fire Girls.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES GORDON SPRAGUE have come home from their honeymoon abroad, arriving in New York one day last week. Mrs Sprague was the former Miss Marjorie Morton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Carpenter Morton. Another Boston man and his bride back from wedding journeying abroad are Mr. and Mrs. Eben Draper. Mr. Draper and the new Mrs. Draper went directly to his Hopedale estate immediately upon their arrival. Everyone proclaims the bride most attractive. She hails from the West Coast and possesses the vivacity and charm proverbial with daughters of that region.

BOSTONIANS MUSICALLY inclined and those who ever lend encouragement to the youthful singer essaying flights to fame are familiar with the name of Mrs. Charles H. Bond as benefactor and sponsor. Her name, therefore, in the sponsor list for Miss Rose Zulalian's recital in Symphony Hall March 13, is quite to be expected. Some of the matrons serving in like capacity for this very promising young singer are Mesdames Alvan Tufts Fuller, J. Malcolm Forbes, Roger Wolcott, Augustus Hemenway, Samuel McCall and many others far too numerous to mention. Miss Zulalian's rise in her chosen field of the lyric art is of the sort delighting her friends and instructors—and there'll be many admirers on hand at Symphony to give warm approval.

DEATH PENALTY BILL HEARING TOMORROW

The bill now before the Massachusetts legislature which would abolish capital punishment in the State, will be given a hearing at the State House tomorrow So widespread is the interest in this measure that preparations have been made to handle a record crowd at the hearing.

Men and women from all parts of the State and many prominent leaders from outside the State are behind the bill. Support for the bill is growing daily in both branches of the legislature.

Representative C. F. Nelson Pratt of Saugus, one of the strongest advocates of the bill, announced today that he would ask for a roll-call when the measure comes before the legislature. He declared that in this manner, every legislator would have to go on record either in favor of or opposed to the abolition of the death penalty.

Dr. A. Edmond Cardinal, Lawrence podiatrist, today added his word to those who are pleading for the passage of the bill.

"In this country, more than any other country," Dr. Cardinal said, "execution for murder should be abolished. Because in this country more than any other country your bank account decides the size of your punishment.

"While the big trial was going on in Chicago to prove insane the two intellectual murderers, a poor Belgian mill worker was executed in Charlestown prison. He had been proven guilty by circumstantial evidence. He was poor, therefore he died. Two of the brightest young men in the country brutally commit murder. They admit it. They are heirs to millions. They get life, which generally means seven or eight years, and then liberty.

"Under these circumstances, abolish capital punishment. Killing, whether by State or individual is a gross remnant of anti-civilization eras."

UNABLE TO ENTER U. S., WOMAN TAKES HER LIFE

Preston, Eng., March 7 (A.P.)—A verdict of suicide was returned at the inquest on the death of Miss Jane Smethurst, 60, whose body was found in a canal here on Feb. 15.

Miss Smethurst, who had lived in Australia and the United States, came here in 1925. She was said to be worried because she was unable to return to the United States as she was not an American citizen.

ZIEGFELD DANCER LIKES SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHING

New York, March 7 (A.A.P.)—Frances Mae Mildern, 15, specialty dancer in Ziegfeld's "Rio Rita," enjoys teaching Sunday school in the Chapel of the Intercession (Episcopal). She started these duties some time ago when, taking her little brother to class, she found the regular teacher was ill and she acted as substitute.

A Barrel of Love in Happy Home Recipe

RECIPE for a Happy Home:

Take one barrel of love, divided evenly between two persons.

Add sufficient quantities of Patience, Kindliness, Faithfulness, Religion, Sympathy and Understanding.

Then add two or three—yes, even four or five, little people, God's chosen candles, to brighten Life's pathway.

Next, add a measure of friendliness and respect for all the world outside, together with a generous portion of the spirit of forgiveness.

Blend all together, using great care, and your Happy Home will not only keep forever but will actually improve with age.

TRY TO MAKE LIFE EASY FOR THE POOR FISH

Chicago, March 7 (A.P.)—How to increase the life span of "nervous" fishes which live but a short time in captivity while their more phlegmatic brethren attain a hearty old age by taking life easy, is the subject of research work by Walter H. Chute, associate director of the Shedd Aquarium to be built in Grant Park.

"Swordfishes cannot be kept in captivity because small ones are too nervous and full grown fish are too large," Mr. Chute said. "Goosefish, salt water herring, mackerel, kingfish, anchovies and other rapidly moving, highly nervous fishes, are short lived in captivity. They last a week or less.

"Nocturnal fish are extremely difficult to keep because they are whipped into a highly nervous state by inability to hide from the light.

"On the other hand, the slow-moving fish enjoy long life in aquarium tanks."

Mr. Chute hopes to prolong the captive existence of nervous fishes by reproducing their natural surroundings, supplying them with their natural food and by proper regulation of the water temperatures.

TO BE A WIFE IS AIM OF SMITH STUDENT, 15

By MARGARET REX

New York, March 7.—"My career will be getting married."

Marjorie Bache, fifteen, youngest student at Smith College, knows what she wants.

"A home. Domestic life. No other career.

"I think being married is about the nicest thing a girl can do," and Marjorie, sitting at the piano in her home at St. George, S. I., looks over for approval at her handsome mother, Mrs. Max Bache. The approval is forthcoming.

"That's for Marjorie to decide," says Mrs. Bache. "Although she likes boys and parties as much as any girl, she came home for the week-end to see all of us. They were having a dance at Smith College and Marjorie thought she'd rather invite herself home than invite a boy to the dance."

"I just got an early start in going to school," the pretty brown-eyed prodigy insists. "It isn't that I'm so smart—I don't think I am. I have no favorite among my studies."

HAPPY HOME LETTERS END SATURDAY

The Evening American's discussion of "What Makes Home Happy? What Makes Home Unhappy?" will continue throughout the present week, ending on Saturday, March 12.

Ten dollars will be printed for every letter on this subject printed in this week, except on Saturday, when the special award, as usual, will be FIFTY Dollars.

Every letter received up to Friday night, inclusive, will be carefully read and the Home Editor will endeavor to select for publication those which appear to him to be most helpful or to approach the subject from the most novel view-point.

Today's letter was selected, in part, on account of its brevity. Hattie Parsons (the Editor does not know whether the lady is "Miss" or Mrs.") says a lot in a very few words. She will be pleased to learn that a check for Ten Dollars is on the way to her.

There still is time to write and send the letter which you have had in mind, for the discussion will continue up to and including Saturday.

Try to keep your contribution within the 300-word limit which has been suggested. Write on one side of the paper only. Address Home Editor, Boston Evening American, P. O. Box 110, Boston, Mass.

10,000 SEE NEW FORD PLANT THROWN OPEN

The new Ford plant in Somerville, employing 2,500 workers and with a capacity of 400 cars production every eight hours, was thrown open formally to the public today, and thousands were shown through the establishment.

Today was Somerville Government day, with the chief guests the leaders in Somerville's administration, officials of the Boston & Maine and Boston & Albany Railroad and big shipping figures of the Hub.

Headed by Mayor Leon M. Conwell and ex-Mayor John Webster of Somerville, the official party was given a luncheon at the Copley-Plaza Hotel by the Ford management as the opening of the long program.

EXPECT 10,000 GUESTS.

Then the big party, escorted by a score or more Somerville police in automobiles and on motorcycles, went to Somerville and were taken through the huge plant, whose doors then were thrown open to the public for a week of sight-seeing.

Ford officials estimated that 10,000 people would have been shown through the establishment on the first day, and they figure the attendance tomorrow will be in the vicinity of 15,000.

An army of guides were provided by the Ford management to show the parties through the plant, each trip taking an average of one hour and thirty-five minutes before every operation of Ford car building was watched.

W. A. Flanders, manager of the plant and "Major Domo" of the entire affair, was aided by his assistant manager, C. E. Allison, in handling the luncheon and the huge throngs that followed.

Manager Flanders also presided at the luncheon, whose guests included, in adition to Mayor Conwell and Ex-Mayor Webster, President George Hannauer of the Boston & Maine; Homer Loring, chairman of the B. & M. board of directors; H. M. Biscoe, vice-president of the Boston & Albany; Frank A. Newell, vice-president of the Shawmut National Bank; Davis B. Kenniston, Metropolitan Water Commissioner; John R. Rablin, chief engineer of the commission; Frank S. Davis, head of the Maritime Bureau, Boston Chamber of Commerce; C. H. Emery of the American Express Co.; Judge Malcolm E. Sturtevant of the Somerville District Court and representatives of tugboat and Boston shipping concerns.

MAKE OFFER OF PLANT.

They all evinced a keen interest in the trip through the plant, which spreads out over 340,000 square feet and in which the first car was started through at 1:15.

Just before the guests went through it was announced that the Ford-Stout all-metal tri-motored plane which brought a complete roadster "knocked down" to Boston on Saturday had reached Curtiss Field, Long Island, just two hours and twenty minutes after taking off on Sunday from the Boston Airport. And the greater part of the trip was made in a rainstorm.

Tomorrow will be known as Boston Chamber of Commerce Day at the Ford plant and Wednesday will be Associated Industries Day.

OLDSMOBILE HAS 20 NEW MAJOR FEATURES

"Again the automotive industry has demonstrated that it typifies the American spirit of ever seeking something better. Close inspection of the exhibits at the Automobile Show proves that the engineers have been busy throughout the year with development that add to car performance and riding comforts," said Harvey Dunn, general manager of the Boston Oldsmobile Company.

"The Oldsmobile exhibit is a typical example of this progressive spirit While the outward appearance of the Oldsmobile reflects the refinements of line and finish made during the past year, the most notable developments are not apparent to the eye. A closer investigation of the car discloses that 20 major features have been installed.

ACCURACY REAL NEED IN AUTOS

Upsetting a popular notion that speed is the most vital factor in quantity production, experience in motor car building proves that accuracy is much more important—in fact that accuracy is the father of speed, said J. C. Chick, New Englang manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company.

"Precision governs production with a mailed fist," he said. "Every operation must bow to its mandate. Without it, speed is a futile gesture.

"In order to keep the great assembly lines moving on schedule—in order to give speed a chance—every part and every operation must be letter perfect.

"The greater the speed desired, the more precise must be the standard of accuracy. Slight defects are more easily detected because of the perfection required for quantity production. An imperfect part or a piece of blemished workmanship may hold up the entire production line, causing a financial loss that may be gauged only by the delay.

"By the same token, quality must rise to a high standard. Materials must be of proved merit to pass successfully through the various operations.

"Quality and accuracy in the final product are guaranteed by the fact that machines and fixtures are so constructed that a part will not fit unless it is built precisely to specifications.

"Uncertain quality and indifferent workmanship make quantity production immediately impossible. The two work to opposite purposes."

WILLYS SALES REPORTED AS HIGHER

In a report given out by H. G. Fitch, manager of the Boston branch of Willys-Overland he says: "Sales of Willys-Knight and Whippet cars in New England for February are ahead of those for the same month last year by better than 100 per cent.

"This includes not only the retail sales in Boston and the surrounding towns but the wholesale business for the entire territory which includes Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Vermont.

"Since the announcement of the new Whippet Six in January, and the presentation of the two Willys-Knight sixes with the new body types, every dealer for Willys-Overland in this territory has been doing a volume of business which is more like May and June than it is like February.

TRUCK SALES INCREASE FOR GRAHAM BROTHERS

Graham Brothers, a division of Dodge Brothers, Inc., made and sold more trucks and commercial cars in the month of January than during any previous January in the company's history, said C. S. Henshew, general manager of the Henshaw Motor Co.,

This is a definite answer to questions raised at the first of the year about what 1927 holds for the motor truck industry, according to officials.

Trucks and commercial cars shipped from all Graham Brothers plants for the first month of this year totaled 4,255 as against 3,765 in January, 1926, which in turn surpassed all preceding first months.

Martha Lee's Talk To Housewives

"When Is Chicken Not Chicken? When It's California Chicken Pie"

It's Made of Tuna Fish

THE riddle, "When is a chicken not a chicken?" now has a new answer. "When it's a California chicken pie," whose innermost secrets are uncovered in the five pictures with this story.

This is the kind of pie which when opened might well cause the birds to sing and the family to offer a grateful chirp or two. It has for its basis the tasty tuna.

I wish I didn't feel so apologetic every time I suggest tuna. So many people seem to have a complex against it. For why, I don't know. To me the tuna fish is a very aristocratic cousin of the salmon family, with a strong strain of chicken.

It certainly is economical, easy to prepare, easy to digest, and, combined with the proper ingredients, extremely tasty.

The proof's in the pie—in this California chicken pie, the last crumb of which I devoured with much gusto and my faithful assistant—(the little lady of the pictures)—behind the scenes of the Martha Lee kitchen.

There was certainly nothing complicated about the making of this pie, especially since, being pressed for time, we used a ready prepared pie crust mixture which required only a dash of cold water and a deft roll or two of the pin to transform into a tasty, tender crust.

First we boiled together until tender, in a small amount of salted water, two diced carrots, two medium potatoes diced and one medium-sized onion.

Next a white sauce was made by melting one tablespoon of buter, adding to it two tablespoons of flour and cooking until it bubbled.

Then one cup of milk was added gradually and the sauce cooked until smooth and thick. Next we add one teaspoon of salt, ⅛ teaspoon of paprika, one-eighth teaspoon of pepper and then mix the sauce with the tuna.

Next we lined a glass baking dish with the ready-prepared pastry, fill it with the vegetables, and the creamed fish in layers and cover with an upper crust, ventilated with a few judicious knife jabs, and bake it in a 450 degrees F. oven until the crust is brown and crisp.

A Spanish Omelet

HERE'S a Spanish omelet: Six eggs, 2 tablespoons butter, 6 tablespoons warm water, 4 mushrooms, ½ pimiento, 1 small onion, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ green pepper, dash pepper.

Melt 1 tablespoon butter in a saucepan and the onion, pepper, pimiento and mushrooms chapped fine. Cover and steam slowly for 20 minutes. Separate the eggs, beat the yolks until thick and lemon colored.

Add salt and pepper and water gradually. Then fold in the egg whites beaten until stiff and dry. Melt the other tablespoon butter in a heavy skillet. When hot, pour in the egg mixture.

Cover the pan and cook over a low fire for ten minutes; then place pan in 375 degrees F. oven. Remove the lid and bake until the omelet is dry on top and firm.

Turn omelet on to heated platter, spread with pepper and mushroom mixture. Fold and serve immediately. Parsley and lemon slices make an attractive garnish.

Household Hints

A strip of carpet glued to a piece of wood will remove mud from shoes without scratching the leather.

Before washing ebony brushes rub the wood with vaseline. This will prevent the ammonia or soda used in the washing water from spoiling the ebony.

Always heat coffee a little before pouring boiling water on it. This heating brings out the flavor and makes one spoonful of coffee go as far as one and a half would do it unheated.

Most people try to get a sharp edge as quickly as possible by rubbing the blade across the stone; the result is a nice sharp edge that may last a day or two, but each time the knife takes longer to sharpen. The proper way is to hold it almost flat on the stone. The sharpening process is longer, but as the thicker part of the blade is generally worn thinner by this process, the knife will not need grinding very often, and the blade will last a lifetime.

Savory Rice Omelette Is Well Worth Trying

A savory rice omelette is made as follows: Three eggs, ½ cup cooked rice, ½ cup milk, 1 tablespoon butter and other fat, 1 teaspoon chopped parsley, 3 tablespoons minced ham or left-over fried bacon, ¼ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper.

Beat the whites and the yolks of the eggs separately. Mix all the ingredients, folding in the whites of eggs last. Pour the mixture into a hot, well-greased frying pan and when it is brown fold it over with a flexible-bladed knife. Turn the omelette out on a warm platter and serve immediately.

Kitchen Window Sills Should Be Kept Clear

The kitchen window sills are frequently a catchall for empty fruit jars, glasses, weakly plants, and odds and ends, which make any attractive curtaining impossible.

Nothing can be more cheerful than a healthy plant in a kitchen window, but the sill should not be used as a miscellaneous storage shelf. Graceful greenery, flowers, or even beautifully shaped candlesticks or bowels silhouetted against the window panes are charming in any window in the house.

Macaroni for Lent Menu

MEAT substitutes are now the order of the day with fish, of course, at the head of the list, but with many other excellent foods that should be given serious thought.

The Italian method of serving macaroni or spaghetti with cheese sauce makes a well-balanced meal and egg dishes and cream soups are nourishing and healthful.

Here's a scalloped oyster dish made with macaroni, that's a bit "different."

SCALLOPED OYSTERS—Butter a casserole and lay in it alternate layers of macaroni and oysters. Sprinkle the oysters with salt and paprika and dot with butter. Finish with a layer of macaroni and pour in milk till it reaches the level of the macaroni. Sprinkle the top with bread crumbs and a little American cheese. Bake in a moderate oven for thirty minutes.

ITALIAN SPAGHETTI—A very simple Italian dish is made by boiling a package of spaghetti for fifteen minutes and then draining it, and pouring over it one of the following sauces, topping with grated cheese, of course.

Slice thin a clove of garlic or half a small onion and simmer slowly in Olive oil; then add a can of Italian tomato paste, and when this is hot, turn over the spaghetti. This sauce can be made with tomato ketchup, using a cup or more of the ketchup.

Another sauce that is good, but a bit more Spanish than Italian, is made by browning a thinly sliced onion and thinly sliced clove of garlic in olive oil. Add a large can of tomatoes, a minced green pepper, and half a cup of sliced stuffed olives and a couple of tablespoons of the brine from the olives. Cook this all together, and pour over the spaghetti.

Regard Size of Pieces in Making of Salads

One thing we are learning about salads and that is that they are not a hash in which each particle should be blended indistinguishably with its neighbor; it should be an easy matter to recognize the component at a glance.

The size of the pieces deserves careful consideration. Oranges and grapefruit sections may usually be left whole; they should never be divided into more than two pieces. Any fruit which cannot be cut easily with a salad fork should, of course, be subdivided before combining.

Also, when salad is to be prepared in quantity and served from a large bowl, the pieces should be small enough so that each individual will receive a representative assortment.

THERE'S NO LOVELIER FASHION than meals by candlelight. Everyday dinners, I mean. The home folks will enjoy the soft, cozy candle glow as well as guests. Got my holders in the 5 and 10. My candles are a new brand. Tall, slender, dripless, smokeless, in exquisite colors, reasonable in price. Economical to use. Flatteringly becoming and so fashionable.

SAP WILL BE RUNNING in a week or so now away up in Vermont. I'm placing my order for a gallon of the finest maple syrup ever. Weighs 11 lbs. Costs $2.75 with about 25c extra for postage. I honestly believe it's the most wonderful syrup in the world. With hot biscuits, griddles, waffles—words fail me! Supply is limited so order now for delivery about March 20th.

VERY, VERY, VERY LATEST in luscious cheese is a loaf cheese mellowed by unhastened natural aging. Produces a distinctive flavor. Assures greater digestibility. In individual portion packages or by box or loaf. Swiss or American. Contains nutritive qualities frequently lost in cheese making. These create a more delicious and digestible product. No unpleasant after effects; a perfect food for children. Delicious as a spread for bread, crackers, sandwiches, in rarebits. An item you won't want to miss.

MOST ANYONE CAN can tomatoes, but it's another story to insure full-meated juicy fruit. A certain label guarantees this. Try it and see the difference experience and care can really make. Rapid transit from vines to can accounts for the fresh flavor.

DURING LENT do make the most of delicious imported sardines that sell two cans for 35c. In pure olive oil. Absolutely different flavor and oh, so much better than the usual canned cardine. A true table luxury. Try them arranged on lettuce around stuffed eggs!

A THREE-POUND CAN OF SNOW WHITE shortening sells for 69c. 23c for one pound. The perfect shortening for deep-fat frying and cake-making. Two pounds a week should save you at least 70c on your shortening bill.

WHY RISK tomato bisque curdling when you can buy luscious cream of tomato soup, three cans for 25c. Of pure, fresh cream and fresh tomato.

EVER TRY MY TUNA FISH CAKES, luscious combination of potatoes, tuna fish, green peppers and finely chopped onion? (Recipe on request.) Finely flavored. An easy economical dish with tuna fish selling at two cans for 35c.

WEND YOUR WAY to a certain basement if you want to invest 95c in splendid army boiler. 7½ gallon size. The utensil of many uses from canning to washing.

WHAT EVERY WOMAN LOVES, her kiddies and men folks, too—a chocolate frosted marshmallow biscuit. 29c a pound. Welcome in the luncheon box, for evening refreshments or most any old time.

FANCY! Hawaiian sliced pineapple in heavy syrup only 21c a can. Starts breakfast right, improves lunch or ends dinner tastily and so wholesome. The fruit of a hundred uses. Fried with lamb chops for instance. In chop suey or on French toast!

THREE CHEERS for the very best ever sandwich spread. Unlike others, has a cream cheese base mixed with all 57 varieties of luscious pickles, et cetera, et ceterorum. 30c for a lot. You don't know how good.

MAGAZINE RACKS ARE IN AGAIN. A 4-shelf rack of sturdy Craftsman design ready for home painting, $3.50. May be hung against wall or stood on its own four sturdy legs.

FINISH IT WITH THAT WONDERFUL QUICK-DRYING ENAMEL I told you of last week. Never a brush mark! Half pint does a table and four chairs. Do check this item today if you omitted it last week.

JUST A MINUTE is all it takes to check the items in this list that interest you and please remember that all-important complete address when you send it to me for prompt information. A loose 2c stamp is appreciated, too.

Faithfully yours,

Martha Lee

New Variety to Dishes

THOUSANDS of housewives nowadays are stealing a leaf from the cookbooks of famous chefs and adding change and variety to the dishes on their menu.

Even the simplest foods are capable of a multitude of variations by the use of different sauces and seasonings.

White sauces of Hollandaise sauce, made with the proper seasonings, give interest and delight to all kinds of vegetables, fish and meats. The best method of seasoning sauces, as well as the easiest, is generally by the use of a good prepared mustard.

The prepared or blended mustard contains delicate spices, so that the food acquires its richness from a dainty gamut of seasonings.

Prepared mustard added to the batter of oysters, fish, croquettes, increases materially the delicious flavor of the dish. Meats, such as steaks, roasts, chops, should be spread with a thin coat of prepared mustard before cooking.

A much larger amount of the seasoning can be used than might be supposed, as the meat juices blend with it to give a rich, delicious gravy or sauce.

NO OTHER COOK KNEW HOW

She alone knew this recipe that has grown so famous

THEY are eager with interest at the bare news of a better recipe—the women who pride themselves most on their cooking.

Nowhere else in the world are women so constantly collecting and trying out new recipes as in America. That is why, perhaps, a single old-time recipe has today won more users than any other in history.

Years ago the news of Aunt Jemima's tender, golden-brown pancakes was carried from plantation to plantation. But their wonderful flavor was the despair of other cooks. No one knew just how she mixed her ingredients.

Today millions of women are following Aunt Jemima's own recipe—making light, fragrant pancakes just like her own. Her own ingredients, proportioned exactly as she used them, now come ready-mixed in Aunt Jemima Pancake Flour. Only in this way is it possible to have her old-time plantation flavor.

Notice how the eyes grow brighter around the table when you first serve Aunt Jemima's cakes. Plan now to test her recipe—ready-mixed. Your grocer has Aunt Jemima Pancake Flour and her Prepared Buckwheat Flour.

Coupons for valuable premiums come in every Aunt Jemima package.

"You are better than a French chef!"

exclaimed my husband

TO WIN praise like that from a food-bored husband is, as all wives know, a real triumph. Here's how I did it:

Over both sides of my steak—before cooking—I spread a generous layer of Gulden's Mustard. Then I placed it on the fire.

"Great," said my husband, "you certainly know how to season food. You're better than a French chef!"

GULDEN'S Mustard, when used in cooking, works wonders with all kinds of meats, vegetables, sauces and gravies. As they cook, the delicate flavorings in this magic seasoning spread throughout the food and create a fascinating flavor of which the greatest chef might well be proud.

Only in Gulden's do you get the perfect blending of rich, mellow spices with the world's finest mustard seeds. That is why it is the one complete seasoner for cooking. It comes all ready to use.

Drink a Lot of Water, the Cheapest Rule of Hygiene

Drink plenty of water, six to eight glasses a day, is the latest hint from the State Department of Health.

Next to breathing fresh air, the department says, one of the cheapest rules of hygiene is drink plenty of water.

Water is a real food, is good for the kidneys, is an essential part of the body tissues and by evaporation provides for the removal of heat which would otherwise accumulate in the body.

"Even the very young babies should have plain boiled water to drink between feedings," the public is advised.

"After boiling, the water should be put in a sterilized bottle, corked and kept for the day's supply."

"The Most Useful of Cleaners"

The added housecleaning done by the Sweeper-Vac marks this cleaner as most useful. Primarily, a vacuum cleaner is purchased for its efficiency in cleaning rugs; and in this, too, the Sweeper-Vac excels. It has a motor-driven brush which aided by powerful suction actually gets all the dirt. The brush revolves in the proper direction to comb out the fringe; the Sweeper-Vac never requires adjustment and your small rugs so difficult to vacuum clean will not wrinkle or drag when the Sweeper-Vac is used. Good Housekeeping and Modern Priscilla have approved the Sweeper-Vac.

Stinnes to Quit Germany for U.S.

Adventures of a Girl From New England in the Movie Colony

"It's the most heart-breaking game in the world—the movies," he told her.

READ THIS FIRST

BOBBIE RANSOM, a demure little Dedham school teacher of 22, is "movie struck." For years she has been dreaming of going to Hollywood to break into pictures. The only drawback to her ambition to become a film star, so she thinks, is lack of money.

She tries to borrow money to go to Hollywood from her father and her spinster AUNT GERTRUDE, but without success. So does ANDREW JERROLD, who's in love with her.

The WIDOW PARKINS, with whom Bobbie's father is in love, lends her the money, and Bobbie sets out for Hollywood.

She finds a room in MRS. MANGAN'S rooming house, where there are three other girls. When Mrs. Mangan hears that Bobbie wants to get into pictures, she arranges with STELLA DELROY, whose real name is RIGGS, to advise her. Stella, an unsuccessful movie actress, starts out with Bobbie to have dinner at some Boulevard restaurant.

Stella tells her how to go about getting a job, and sends her to a photographer to have her picture taken. Bobbie wanders around the studios and seeing a door open in a fence that bounds one "lot," she pushes it open, hoping to get a glimpse of what's going on inside.

Bobbie sees the casting director at the Magnifica Studios, a MR. EBBINGER, and leaves her name and telephone number with him. While Bobbie is in his office, a good looking director named ANGUS Something-of-Other, who had been pointed out to her by Stella, pauses at the door and stares at her. A few hours later a telephone call comes to Bobbie from the Magnifica Studios. She breathlessly tells Mrs. Mangan she is sure it is from Mr. Ebbinger.

ANGUS MacCLOUD, an assistant director, who pays particular attention to her, tells her to report to Magnifica Studios the next morning.

Bright and early, Bobbie is there with her gown. Another extra girl, a pert, cute little thing named MONICA MONT, who seems to know everyone in the place, takes her under her wing and helps her make up her face in the second-story dressing-room. As she and Monica start down the wooden steps leading to the ground floor, Bobbie catches her heel on a step and falls headlong to the bottom of the flight.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER XII.

When Bobbie's brown eyes fluttered open, she was lying on the floor at the foot of the wooden stairs.

The first thing that she saw was the face of a man who was kneeling beside her. One of his hands was under her head and the other waved a green bottle of smelling salts before her nose.

Then another face swam into her vision—Monica's snub-nosed little face with its wide blue eyes and round red O of a mouth. Monica was smiling to herself in a secret sneering sort of way—as if at some sly joke of her own.

"Feel better now, little lady?" asked the man with the eye shade, and Bobbie nodded dreamily.

"Only my head aches," she said. She was thinking that this man had the kindest face she had ever seen in her life. It was a clever face, too. Thin and dark and keen, with eyes that seemed to have a lot of sympathy and human understanding written in them.

He helped Bobbie to her feet, and turned to Monica.

"Take her over to Mrs. Hammond, Monica, and ask her to fit her up with one of those pink ballet dresses we used in the last picture," he said. "And then bring her over on the set when you come."

He turned to go, stopped and picked up a small bright object from the dusty floor. It was a heel made of silver cloth, with bent nails sticking up in it—the treacherous heel had caught on the steps and thrown Bobbie headlong.

"I guess this belongs to you, doesn't it?" he asked, and was off.

Bobbie looked at it unhappily. Then she [illegible] up at Monica.

"Ruined a perfectly good pair of slippers," she said. "Look—the silver cloth is all torn at the side. And they cost $16."

Monica didn't say a word. But her sidelong glance was laughing in its scorn.

"You shouldn't worry about your slippers," she said. "They turned the trick for you, didn't they?"

Bobbie stared at her, as they stepped from the dark hallway out into the alley. It was very hot and

WOMEN RIGHTS UP TO LEAGUE

Geneva, Switzerland, March 7 (A.P.)—Women's rights blazed their way into the first meeting of the forty-fourth session of the League of Nations today when Sir Austen Chamberlain backed by Dr. Benes of Czechoslovakia, protested that women had insufficient representation in the League's health committee.

Alluding to Dr. Alice Hamilton of Harvard the British Foreign Secretary pointed out that there was only one woman on the health committee and that she was there merely in an advisory capacity, with no right to vote. This, he said, constituted a grave failure to recognize the ability of women, who certainly were in a position to contribute greatly to the cause of international health.

The council referred the complaint to the health committee and it is probable that favorable action will be taken on it.

CHECK FORGER SENTENCED TO A YEAR IN SALEM

Salem, March 7 (A.P.)—John A. Robichaud of Fitchburg was sentenced to one year in the House of Correction by Judge George B. Sears today for attempted larceny of an automobile by means of a worthless check. He pleaded guilty.

Robichaud said he was hard up and a pal told him how easy it was to get money by the forged check method. He added that he had passed worthless checks in Three Rivers, New Rochelle, N. Y., Camden, N. J., and Framingham.

LOVE'S YOUNG DREAM HAVING ITS DAY

FAIR EXCHANGE

In "Orchids and Ermine," at the Washington Street Olympia, Colleen Moore is the little telephone operator who is met and conquered by this gilded youth, played by Jack Mulhall.

COLLEEN MOORE COMEDY FILM AT OLYMPIA

F[illegible] and effective methods by wh[illegible] orchids, ermines and diamonds are separated from butter and egg men by New York's [illegible] army of [illegible] and [illegible] gold excavators are revealed with [illegible] in Colleen Moore's "Orchids and Ermine," [illegible] now showing at the Washington Street and Scollay Square Olympia screens.

This human and humorous story of what happened to one of the New York hotel [illegible] who fell in love with a [illegible] traveling incognito as his own valet, pokes good-natured fun at dairy products merchants of repute. In addition to being charmingly convincing and appealing as the operator, Miss Moore runs the switchboard as though she had done it all her life.

This [illegible] comedy is delightfully whimsical. The love scenes with Jack Mulhall in a driving rain on the unprotected top of a Fifth avenue bus, the efforts of "lobby sheiks" to make dates, and the scenes in which the flower counter blonde shows Colleen how to vamp men, paged laughs in large numbers yesterday.

Judging by the size of the settings, New York's largest hotel must have been obtained by John McCormick, the producer, for the interior scenes. Added interest and real color is given the story by reason of the fact that the real Broadway, Fifth Avenue and Riverside Drive were used as the background of the outdoor [illegible]

Alfred Santell has transferred the Carey Wilson story to the screen with the same gay swinging gait that characterized his "Classified" and "Subway Sadie."

A large and excellent cast supports Colleen Moore. It is headed by Jack Mulhall as the bashful oil king. Sam Hardy, Owen Lee, Alma Bennett, Hedda Hopper, Kate Price, Jed Prouty, Emily Fitzroy, Caroline Snowden, Yola d'Avril and Brooks Benedict.

MASON AS SOLOIST WITH PEOPLE'S SYMPHONY

One of the best concerts of the season drew a large audience to Jordan Hall yesterday afternoon to hear the People's Symphony Orchestra in its fourteenth program, led by Wallace Goodrich, guest conductor. A feature of the afternoon's entertainment was the performance of a Rhapsody on a Persian Air, for piano and orchestra, by Stuart Mason, regular conductor of the organization, with the composer at the piano.

SCREENING OF WARFIELD PLAY AT BOSTON

"The Auctioneer," the East Side comedy in which David Warfield starred for many years, making a fortune for himself and David Belasco, is now being screened at the Keith-Albee Boston, with George Sidney in the title role.

Marion Nixon

Sidney, like Warfield, has long been favorably known for his impersonations of East Side types. The comedy, with its racial mixture, has much the same sentimental appeal noted in other successful New York plays. "Abie's Irish Rose" was not the first success of its kind, not by any means. "The Auctioneer" was the biggest hit on the Belasco calendar for years. On the screen it has been modernized a good deal, but the old atmosphere remains strong, and also the familiar scenes that alternately bring up [illegible] tears.

It is the story of a Jewish immigrant, Simon Levi, who has adopted an orphaned German girl on the way across the ocean and struggles up to riches. In time an Irish boy [illegible] in love with the [illegible] the Levis and the [illegible] trade at [illegible] side [illegible] The big heart [illegible] come [illegible] young Logan's ambition, Levi loses his money and starts once more at the foot of the ladder. But the money turns up again and all goes well.

Marian Nixon, Gareth Hughes, Doris Lloyd and Claire McDowell appear with Sidney.

Ex-Bookkeeper in Jail

Pittsfield, March 7 (A.P.)—John J. McHondry, twenty-eight, former bookkeeper of the Berkshire Lumber Company, was lodged in the Berkshire County Jail today on his arrival here from Los Angeles, where he was arrested. An indictment charges him with larceny of $8,000 from the company.

'STRIKE TWO, CASEY'

BUT CASEY ONLY SMILED

Here we have the unimitable Wallace Beery in his latest comedy, "Casey at the Bat," which is coming to the Metropolitan Theatre.

VETS TO SEE 'CASEY AT THE BAT'

It's time to talk of baseball. The leaves are [illegible] the Red Sox at New Orleans and Casey, mighty Casey, of the famous Mudville nine, is about to make his appearance before a [illegible] of more crippled kids and convalescent service men at different hospitals.

The Boston Evening American and the Metropolitan Theatre are going to see to that.

Continuing their policy of [illegible] Fall and Winter to cheer the shut-ins with showings of the latest motion pictures, the Metropolitan Theatre and this paper have arranged for Wallace Beery's latest comedy, "Casey at the Bat," to be shown to these unfortunates even before the general public sees it.

On Wednesday evening two hundred crippled children at the Massachusetts Hospital School in Canton will see the film. On Thursday, patients at Chelsea Naval Hospital are due for the treat, and on the following evening "Casey" will proceed to the West Roxbury Veterans' Hospital.

"Casey at the Bat" is said to be Beery's greatest comedy. It is a dramatic story of the world famous strike-out and of the other adventures that befall poor Casey. Ford Sterling is in the cast with Beery, while the excellent Zasu Pitts is the object of Casey's affections. The public showing of the film begins next Saturday at the Metropolitan.

REPERTORY THEATRE GIVES 'MACBETH' THIS WEEK

The season at The Repertory Theatre will be made notable by the production tonight of Shakespeare's supreme tragedy, "Macbeth," one of [illegible] greatest of his plays. It is none too frequently acted and it will therefore be especially welcome for that reason, as well as for its intrinsic interest.

MARION DAVIES IN BARRIE FILM

The last moments of the battle of Waterloo are to be filmed for Marion Davies' forthcoming production of "Quality Street," the Sir James Barrie play to be made shortly at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios.

It is planned early in the picture to show the Napoleonic legions concentrating at Boulogne and later the defeat of the Old Guard in its immortal charge against the Duke of Wellington's guns some few miles from Brussels. Another great moment of military history which will be shown will be the flight of the defeated Napoleon from the field.

Aside from these military touches and bits of recruiting by the English sergeants, the war, in "Quality Street," will be only in the distance and the entire story will cover about the life of Phoebe Throssel.

REINALD WERRENRATH IN SYMPHONY CONCERT

Reinald Werrenrath's concert at Symphony Hall yesterday afternoon was a repetition of previous successes. When he came out (rather tardily) on the stage for his first number he faced an audience that very nearly filled the large auditorium.

Although his voice is not eminently fitted to singing in Italian, it was good to hear the measures from "Otello" declaimed with musical and dramatic emphasis. In the Brahms cycle the singer was more at home.

VIVID FILMS AT MODERN

Comedy and melodrama again make up a popular menu on the Modern and Beacon screens. [illegible] theaters [illegible] of a navy of [illegible] decide they have seen enough of the [illegible] side of life and go West to turn over a new leaf. And just as all the excitement is about to pass out of their [illegible] who should turn up but the old gang leader who spots his former hoodwinked pal and tries again to assert his authority. Out of the conflict comes the big punch of the film.

Pat O'Malley

Pat O'Malley, Helen Ferguson, George Hackathorne and Lawford [illegible] lead in this new [illegible] photoplay.

The comedy on the twin screen program is "Love Makes 'Em Wild" [illegible] Johnny Harron and [illegible] attractive and mischievous [illegible] the principals in a farce [illegible] The hero being told his days are numbered and having enough money to indulge his whims, breaks loose and has the time of his life. There is a girl to help him and she isn't at all backward. The hero, toward the end, shows signs of living to be as old as Methuselah and not missing any of the fun.

'TRELAWNY' HAS STAR CAST

Boston is preparing to greet old friends, for the brilliant star cast now appearing in the revival of Pinero's "Trelawny of the 'Wells'" in New York is scheduled to come to the Park on March 21 for one week only.

The company gathered by George Tyler for the most distinguished production in the history of the English speaking stage includes John Drew, Peggy Wood, Helen Gahagan, Estelle Winwood, Mrs. Thomas Whiffen, Henrietta Crosman, Effie Shannon, O. P. Heggie, Otto Kruger, Rollo Peters, Wilton Lackaye, John E. Kellard, Eric Dressler, Lawrence D'Orsay, J. M. Kerrigan and Frieda Inescort.

SMART FILMS AT FENWAY

D. W. Griffith's masterly film, "Sorrows of Satan," is the featured attraction for the first half of the split week at the Fenway.

Though the story by Marie Corelli is hardly a perfect vehicle for the Griffith genius, the spectator is lost in admiration of the well nigh perfect deve[illegible] of plot and the marve[illegible]

"[illegible] you walk under a ladder on your way to a Monday performance?" asked Charlton.

Schofield almost shouted his answer. "I would not. It would be the height of folly to walk under a ladder on the way to a Monday performance. Something might drop [illegible] and hit you. Walk [illegible] a ladder, a fool—I remember [illegible] also a friend of mine [illegible] walked under a ladder. It was a Monday, too. Since then I have never walked under a ladder."

TAD JONES APPROVES CHANGE IN RULES

New Haven, Ct., March 7 (A.P.)—Without exception [illegible] the football [illegible] for the [illegible] season will better the game from the standpoint of both spectator and the player, according to Coach T. A. D. Jones of Yale.

"All of the changes are constructive," Mr. Jones said, "the tendency being to speed up the game and [illegible] the ball out in the open field as much as possible."

Runyon K. O.'s Flu; Column Back Wednesday

Late yesterday afternoon the secret operative of the New York American sports department reported that he had seen Damon Runyon in a heavy conference with a typewriter agent. Upon investigation it was discovered that they had struck a bargain for $10 and his old machine. Damon had purchased a brand new portable.

Damon Runyon

Upon further investigation it was learned that The American's famous sports authority intends to bang one of his fascinating tunes on the new instrument today. Damon positively promised that "RUNYON SAYS" will be back on Page 1 of The American Sports Section on Wednesday. He has been on the sick list for five weeks.

The sports editor was so pleased that he lapsed into Turkish, his favorite foreign language.

"Allah be praised," he said.

FIELDERS OUT AT HARVARD

Candidates for the infield and outfield positions on this year's Harvard nine reported to Coach Fred Mitchell at the cage on Soldiers Field at 1:30 this afternoon.

Etta Tobin, Bill Lord and Johnny Prior are the most promising of the first base group. Tobin was the varsity incumbent last Spring but will have to show more life if he wants to retain his job this year.

Bill Ulman, Bill Elkins, Willie Howard and Johnny Chase lead the large field of candidates for the position held by Ullman last year at second base. Ullman is a strong favorite over the field although Howard is expected to push him to the utmost.

Ralph Sullivan of Milton returns as the varsity shortstop. "Sully" has little opposition except from Kay Miwiakawa, the midget Jap, star of the freshman team last season.

CHASE TO LEAD CRIMSON SIX

John Chase of Milton was today elected captain of the Harvard University ice hockey team for 1928. Chase has played centre on the Crimson ice outfit for the last two seasons.

The newly elected Crimson captain prepared at Milton and Exeter Academy. He is a letterman on the baseball squad and is one of the leading scholars at Harvard.

Tunney, in Ironic Mood, Takes Shot at Those Who Are "Always Belittlin' His Victories

It's a rather tough job for a fellow to fight his way along through many bleak and trying years to gain at last a crack at the heavyweight champion of the world.

It's tougher to beat a great champion. But I'm finding that the toughest task of all is to get just a little recognition for however much or little—I have accomplished.

Since September I f[illegible]t that I'm champion because I have a little f[illegible] mer[illegible], that I g[illegible] the t[illegible] by fairly and decisively whipping all the as[illegible] and by climaxing my efforts by pun[illegible] Jack Dempsey into defeat.

But I [illegible] the almost universal idea that I'm champion only because I carried a pair of horseshoes in my gloves, and [illegible] were [illegible] in a dying condition when I hat[illegible] them.

When I climbed into the ring against Tom [illegible] in [illegible] the [illegible] battle of my career [illegible] thought I would win. But I was almost alone in that belief. Nearly everyone who was at all [illegible] [illegible] picked me—and predicted [illegible].

But I [illegible] out Tommy. I thought I [illegible] quite a [illegible] perhaps I'd get [illegible].

LITTLE CREDIT FOR VICTORIES

But again I was wrong. For I've [illegible] that Tommy [illegible] that he was really a wreck. I've been told how the [illegible] and how [illegible] the [illegible] and how weary and [illegible] an old man of him.

I suppose I should be very sorry and ashamed of myself for punching around an old man. But nobody said anything about Tommy being a wreck UNTIL the fight was OVER.

Then there was that affair I had with Georges Carpentier in 1924. I've heard since then that Georges had to quit in the 15th, because a round or so earlier I had unintentionally fouled him by [illegible] him with my knee as I was bo[illegible] the ropes. That may be true. But [illegible] a dental jolt [illegible] gave Georges with my knee might have [illegible] topped him.

But I figured that the smacking I gave Georges [illegible] the tenth round was something of a [illegible] to him. I've forgotten just how often Georges was on the floor. But it was quite often. And Georges was never quite the same boy afterward.

I rather thought that what I did to Georges' chin in that tenth was the real factor in victory for me. But apparently it was not. For what I read and what I hear convinces me that I [illegible] out Georges with my knee—not w[illegible] my fists.

Three months or so after [illegible] Tommy Gibbons [illegible] Bartley Madden in three rounds. Inasmuch as Madden never had been knocked off his feet, much less put to sleep in all his career, I felt that maybe those who "excused" my victories over Gibbons and Carpentier might grant me a little credit for putting away the "Iron Man."

But again I was all wrong. For having discovered I whipped "an old and sick man" in Gibbons and that I had "accidentally fouled Carpentier into defeat," I came to learn that I won from Madden because [illegible] Bartley took a dive.

EXPERT CREDITS GENE.

After the last blow had been struck there was much crying of "fake." Bartley never had been knocked out and because I did it [illegible] that seemed to prove it was a [illegible] even [illegible] very [illegible] and very [illegible] "The" I questioned George Barton of Minneapolis, who had refereed, and George [illegible]:

"Those who are saying that Madden took a dive, are correct. He did dive—because he couldn't help it. Any other human but the iron-jawed Madden would have taken a dive, not merely into the canvass, but into a coffin.

"Tunney hit Madden a terrific blow—one of the most powerful I've even seen delivered. It caught Madden full and solid on the 'button.' So terrific was the impact that Madden's body quivered, and when he finally fell, it was in a crumpled heap."

[illegible] called the fight on the level. The Boxing Commission's investigation proved that it had been won fairly and honestly. But when I accomplished the never-before-accomplished trick of stopping Madden [illegible]

Last September when I caught up with Jack Dempsey I [illegible] face to face with one of the greatest champions that ever lived and a hitter of [illegible] I [illegible] the breeze from his wings. So much [illegible] had been [illegible]

But I beat the "unbeatable" Dempsey. I thought I'd done right well by myself. I figured that having beaten Jack I maybe would get a [illegible] of the credit that had been [illegible] in the Gibbons-Carpentier [illegible] But I was all wrong again.

For since [illegible] I find I didn't beat Jack Dempsey at all—that what I beat was [illegible] of Dempsey or something like that. I learn from the very same experts who insisted before the fight that Jack was a superbly conditioned athlete that on that particular night he was a very sick man.

So, you see, I'm a "lucky champion." I only hope my luck holds out until I can fight a healthy man.

Braves Face Busy Week
Five Games Carded
Play Yanks Saturday

Thomas on Second
Hogan to Catch
Frank Can Hit 'Em

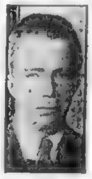
TRIBE SHOULD BE IN GOOD SHAPE BY SUNDAY

ST. PETERSBURG, March 7.—The Boston Braves, who opened their exhibition campaign with a win, have a very busy week just in front. They play five ball games, and by the time another Sunday rolls along, they will be in very good shape for a rest.

There is an opening in the schedule today, so there will be the usual two practice spasms, but they will be light, mostly batting practice, as the athletes have a long, tough Spring ahead.

The St. Petersburg season opens tomorrow, the Senators coming over from Tampa to try to get even for Saturday's licking. Wednesday the athletes hop down into the middle of the State, to Avon Park, to take on the world champion St. Louis Cardinals, who found that spot for a camp.

Next day Jack McAllister, new manager, brings his Cleveland Indians to St. Pete, the Cards come up for a game Friday, and the champion Yanks are billed for a week-end fracas.



Nick Flatley

That program will give every pitcher in the layout plenty of practice, and should help the batters, as most of the teams down this way are rounding into shape, and the chuckers are putting a lot on the ball.

THOMAS AND HOGAN TO BE GIVEN REAL TRIAL

DAVE will keep little Thomas on second base, until the chunky kid gets over his nervousness, and shows whether or not he has the real big league stuff. Herbie was nervous Saturday and kicked a couple, but he also smashed out a pair of hits, one a triple. Things like that loom large in the spring engagements.

Frank Hogan will be kept back of the bat a great deal, too. He can pick up catching that way, and get into the swing of good baseball. He has displayed so much punch that every effort will be made to make him a good enough backstop to retain for the real season. Francis has the potentialities of a new Babe Ruth and that isn't may be.

Duray Wins 250-Mile Race at Culver City

Culver City, Cal., March 7.—Leon Duray, veteran auto race driver, won his first victory here after many years of effort. Driving a non-stop race the French pilot captured the 250-mile classic over a field of speed kings after a hard-fought contest. Duray's average for the 250 miles was 124.7 miles per hour, a world's record for cars of 91½ cubic inch piston displacement.

Last year's national champion Harry Hartz, finished second [illegible] third; Frank Lockhart, last year's Indianapolis winner, was fourth, and Harlan Fengler, a racer of renown three years ago, was fifth.

An announcement was made immediately after the race that Duray's laps would be rechecked as some of the drivers disputed the scoring. At the same time officials announced his time for the race was two hours, 16 3-5 seconds. Hartz' time was two hours and 42 2-5 seconds.

The biggest crowd in the history of the track, about 50,000, witnessed the race, which was featured by thrills and hair-raising escapes from death, three machines traveling at terrific speed, skidded when tires blew out on the turns and crashed

Bancroft Tells Why Braves Will Be 'In There' in '27

By DAVE BANCROFT
(As Told to Nick Flatley)

ST. PETERSBURG, March 7.—The Braves should be right in the pennant fight in 1927. You can throw last year's record out. The club never did get going. It was too late when the team started. But even at that, we knocked a few clubs out of the race. If all goes well we will start the knocking right off the reel this Spring.

In the first place, our pitchers should be ready for the opening. They all worked too hard in the South a year ago, were [illegible] at trim before the race started, and then were [illegible]. This time, we have handled them easily. Nobody has [illegible] a fast ball [illegible]

[illegible]

TAKE the pitchers, Larry Benton, [illegible] to be confident now, as [illegible]

JOE GENEWICH has had his ins and outs for four years. He looked like a wonder at the [illegible] of the last race, and I think he's carrying the same spirit in this one. I [illegible] work him about once a week and I [illegible] be surprised if he doesn't [illegible] a flock of games. He has [illegible] natural stuff as any player [illegible] game.

HENRY WERTZ was a novice in '26 but even so, he looked like a regular until sickness knocked him out of the picture. He's very healthy right now, and should win a regular [illegible]. He's good enough to have three [illegible] for him.

BUNNY HEARN, southpaw, has the [illegible] He broke a hand last year, or he would have been up there. Barring accidents there's no reason why he shouldn't be a great help to the club now.

HAROLD GOLDSMITH pitched three great games for us against the [illegible] last Summer, and [illegible]

CHARLIE ROBERTSON was a whiz in the A. [illegible]

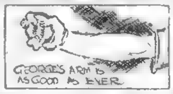
[illegible] pitcher for us than he was for the White Sox, for he's satisfied and anxious. That helps.

FOSTER EDWARDS, the big Dart[illegible] game, late last year [illegible] He's hustling and eager to learn, and that combination usually wins out.

JACK KNIGHT came from the Phil[illegible] ing the wrong way. [illegible] help, for he knows the [illegible] feels [illegible] working for us.

GEORGE MOGRIDGE is old, but I've never looked over a better relief pitcher. [illegible] a smart and a great fielder and [illegible] arm is as good as ever. [illegible] there is

BOBBY SMITH, who was a hold out [illegible]



GEORGE'S ARM IS AS GOOD AS EVER

[illegible] out there. He has [illegible] on a couple of [illegible] and if he gets away he'll [illegible] to stop.

JOHNNY COONEY may or may not recover from his operation sufficiently to pitch this year. That's a matter of luck. His operation was successful, according to the Chicago [illegible], but we'll have to wait and see.

ARTHUR MILLS, from Pittsfield, looks to be a very smart kid. He can get the ball in there, and has good stuff. He'll give them all a run for a place on the team. I have so many pitchers that I know I'll have a tough time weeding them out, but that doesn't bother me. The staff seems to have as much possible power as any other in the league.

ZACH TAYLOR and Frank Gibson are both good big catchers. Zach is a bear for work and a fine hitter, and will be in there plenty. Gibby hurt his knee last Summer and had to quit, but he had special treatments, and in two weeks there hasn't shown any sign of trouble. Except for more accidents, he should stick right around through the fight. He's a good hitter, and has plenty of pep.

FRANK HOGAN looks like a grand prospect. He can smack the apple as hard as any [illegible] in the universe and [illegible] foot at the plate. He doesn't know all the fine points of catching, but he's learning rapidly, and I think he will stick with the team. If we decide to send him out, you can tell the world we'll keep strings on him.

DICK BURRUS, at first, is off for one of his good years. He's healthy and happy, and one of the best hustlers on the club now. He's hitting the ball, and looks faster than he did when he joined us. He should be as good as he was in '25, and that sure was good.

JACQUES FOURNIER is furnishing Dick competition, and that isn't doing either any harm. The big fellow can hit any kind of pitching any time, and he's a good first baseman. Even if he doesn't grab the job away from Burrus, he'll be kept around to hit. What a pinch hitter he would be. He'll give the club some of the punch it needs.

WALTER GAUTREAU is one of the greatest natural ball players [illegible] ing. He can do everything [illegible] [illegible] and at a winning on it. Once he gets the snap toss for double plays, he'll stay on any ball club. He's too smart to keep out of the [illegible]

HERBIE THOMAS is another [illegible] been a star for a couple of years with Providence, batting away over .300 and leading in stolen bases. That shows ability, and he will get a real try [illegible]

EDDIE MOORE looks like he might [illegible]

ANDY High can hit that baseball [illegible] to step in.

OUR outfield should be as good as the next one. Eddie Brown is one of the greatest. He can go and get them anywhere and never misses a fly. And he can hit steadily and dangerously, one of those boys sure to get his one or two or three blows each day. His arm isn't the best, but he puts down more than enough triplets and doubles to make [illegible]

JIMMY WELSH, who will play centre, should have a great year. The sun won't bother him, and that will help his fielding. And he's a fine natural hitter. With the sun worry removed, he should boost his average [illegible] points anyhow. He's [illegible] up and [illegible] in [illegible] from the start.

LANCE RICHBOURG looks like a find. He's fast as a streak and takes a great cut at the [illegible]. He knows how to play the outfield, owns a fine arm and has had just the experience he needs. He gives us the speed on the bases that will help to win the close ones.

JACK SMITH is still one of the of the fastest men in baseball, a good fielder, and bear of a hitter against right handers. He'll be on the job whenever we decide to shift outfields with the pitching. So will Les Mann, who is the veteran of the whole outfit, but still a go-getter and a bad slugger against southpaws.

THE Braves have more speed and punch than they have had since I became manager. They have the pitching prospects. If those prospects work out as they should, it will be hard to keep the club away from a real stab at the first division.

DRINK WATER TO HELP WASH OUT KIDNEY POISON

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Begin Taking Salts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent [illegible] serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases and is excellent for building up the system [illegible] after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

The Midnight Message

by MARTEN CUMBERLAND and B. U. SHAN[illegible]

The Thrill of Love and Millions Abounds in Every Chapter

CHAPTER XVIII.

Luke Jefferies [illegible] the high, red-brick wall that surrounded Carnifex's house in Fitzjohns avenue, and [illegible] to his ear. Here and there [illegible] drew [illegible] one hand [illegible] window. It was [illegible]

The fingers [illegible] with a [illegible]

[illegible] was [illegible]

[illegible] he feared a trap [illegible] darkness [illegible]

So far his luck was in. Here, if [illegible] to the [illegible] of [illegible].

Very quietly he crossed the library and gently opened the door. The hall was lit up [illegible] in front of a [illegible] manservant [illegible] with his back to Jefferies. To the right, a few steps from the library door was a [illegible] the stairs. He would first [illegible] and the [illegible] if he [illegible] it was [illegible] to [illegible] when he heard [illegible] voices and the sound of a key being inserted in the front door. The manservant by the hall fire roused himself.

With [illegible] strides, Jefferies took the first floor steps three at a time, and he gained the first landing as the two men entered by the front door.

From the darkness of the landing, he [illegible] the two men who had just entered. He knew them by [illegible]—one heavy, solid in build [illegible], the other small, [illegible] and bald-headed.

The [illegible] remark to his companion [illegible], came straight for the staircase. For a moment, Jefferies hesitated, weighing the poker thoughtfully in one hand, then he turned and began to climb the second staircase. If possible he would avoid actual conflict.

The bald-headed man came up the [illegible] softly and Jefferies, keeping a few yards ahead of [illegible], his presence concealed by the darkness and the thickness of the stair carpet, was aware that his pulses were tingling with an eager joy. There was a certain savage zest in this playing hide-and-seek with the enemy. Now Jefferies was on the third and top [illegible] where he waited to see if he was followed.

The Small Man Stopped at the Second Floor

The small man, however, stopped at the second floor, and Jefferies heard him enter a room at [illegible]. A minute later he came out again and went down again to the [illegible] floor. The [illegible] came to Jefferies' ears as the [illegible] bald-headed man [illegible].

[illegible] as Jefferies was about to go down the stairs to resume his explorations a curious, harsh, crackling sound burst upon his ears. It came from a room just behind him and it came with a suddenness that was disconcerting. Jefferies turned quickly, and for the first time noticed a light showing very faintly beneath the crack of a door.

The sound ceased as suddenly as it began, and a pungent smell of ozone pervaded the air. Jefferies, who had spent a year as signal instructor in the wireless section during the war, knew the odor. It came from the electrical discharge of a high-power wireless transmitter. In a flash he remembered Carnifex's [illegible] that he had his own private [illegible] of communication. Jefferies remembered, too, that he had seen a long flag staff above the roof of the house.

Again came the curious crackling sound of the spark, sounding for all the world like a lot of bamboo [illegible] rattling and snapping against one another. Quickly he [illegible] paper and pencil from his pocket, and standing under the moonlit window, began to take down the message transmitted.

The operator was working slowly, certainly not more than twelve words a minute and Jefferies was easily able to [illegible] from the spark. Each word was transmitted twice, and Jefferies [illegible] time to look over the message, realized with bitter disappointment that it was in code. A moment [illegible] in that this was [illegible]. [illegible] he wrote on, and only stopped when the message was obviously concluded.

Silence fell once more on the landing and Jefferies began to think rapidly. He had intercepted a wireless message of Carnifex's. It was in code, and possibly a difficult one. But Jefferies knew that there has never been a code compiled by one set of men that cannot be decoded by another set. It is only a matter of time. He must get away and give the message to Curwen Brown.

The wireless apparatus spoke again, and Jefferies recognizing a repetition of the same code message, ignored it. His mind was busy with the problem of escape.

Very quietly he tiptoed to the wireless room and softly turned the key in the lock. The faint scraping of the key was drowned by the snapping of the transmitting spark.

Slowly Jefferies descended to the floor below and waited.

From the ground floor there came the muffled sound of voices where the two agents were conversing. Once more Jefferies' torch came out, and he surveyed the landing upon which he stood. He noted a heavy curtain that covered a recess, and was satisfied.

At Last Came the Sound for Which Jefferies Waited

Five minutes passed, and then the sound for which Jefferies was waiting came at last. The door handle of the wireless room was rattled, and there followed a banging on the door. The wireless operator had discovered that he was locked in. He began to shout and kick against the door.

Downstairs, the conversation ceased abruptly. Jefferies, leaning over the banister, heard a startled query in the big man's voice. Then the little man spoke in English, in a lazy drawl.

"Go up and see, Novikoff," Jefferies heard him say. There was some more argument. The wireless operator was shouting loudly now, and the two men below came out to the hall.

"What can it mean, Weber?" asked the big man.

For answer, the little bald-headed man came running up the stairs. Novikoff followed him more slowly.

Jefferies slipped behind the curtains into the recess, and waited. The poker was clenched tightly in his hand.

The sound of steps came rapidly nearer—the light, spring steps of Weber; the heavy, lumbering gait of Novikoff. Both men brushed past the curtains within a foot of where Jefferies stood.

No sooner had they passed than he slipped from his hiding place and made his way down to the hall. From the top landing came the sound of three voices all clamoring at once.

Jefferies never paused till he reached the bottom flight of stairs, then he looked about him. The fire was still burning [illegible] the servant, having let the [illegible] in, had probably gone to the basement.

Quickly, he passed through the empty library, and gained the conservatory. The window was just as he had left it. Three minutes later he had [illegible] the garden wall, and dropped into the deserted Fitzjohns Avenue. His last action, before jumping from the wall, was to throw Carnifex's poker far into the neighboring shrubbery.

A New Principle in Complexion Treatment

Most creams are injurious when used habitually. They clog the pores and eventually form a permanent, soggy, [illegible] film which interferes with [illegible] and makes the skin [illegible] and pasty. There is an [illegible] wax—which acts upon an entirely different principle. While perfectly harmless, it has the peculiar property of removing by absorption the dead and half-dead particles of scarf-skin as well as unhealthy matter in the pores. Thus it takes away from the [illegible] all skin defects instead of adding others to the complexion, differing in this respect from cosmetics. The result is a perfectly natural and healthy [illegible] complexion. Mercolized wax, procurable at any drug store (one ounce will do) is applied at night like cold cream and washed off next morning. Mercolized wax brings out the hidden beauty.

She Looked at Bobbie With That Blank Stare

She put her head to one side and looked at Bobbie with that blank stare that women wear to hide their jealousy.

"I wonder what he wants you to put on a ballet [illegible]," she mused. "I don't believe he'll give you a special bit. Why, you haven't even had a screen test, yet! You may look like a can of paint on the film. You never can tell how a girl is going to photograph."

Bobbie smiled serenely. She knew she would not look like a can of paint! She knew that her photographs were always flattering.

Just inside the doorway of the building was a small [illegible] office. In the middle of it sat a woman all in black. Her white hair lay in smooth scallops around her face, and she wore glasses on the bridge of a high aristocratic nose. This was Mrs. Hammond, the wardrobe mistress at the Magn[illegible] Studios.

"Morning, Mrs. Hammond!" said Monica, who seemed to be on familiar terms with everybody in the place. "This is a new girl that Mr. Schultz sent over. He wants [illegible] ballet [illegible]"

Mrs. Hammond [illegible] beckoned Bobbie to [illegible] went up [illegible] room where [illegible] brightly-colored dresses [illegible] bow-colored [illegible] and [illegible] corner the pink ballet dresses.

There was not much to them. Just a wide bodice with spangled shoulder straps, and a puff of short airy tulle skirts.

Mrs. Hammond ran her eyes over Bobbie's slenderness, took a measurement here and there, and then handed her one of the costumes.

"I think you'll be able to get into this [illegible]

She opened a door and left Bobbie alone in a room with walls of white-washed brick. There was nothing in it but a long mirror and a cluster of electric lights.

"You can try them on in [illegible]," she told the girl, and [illegible] door.

When Bobbie opened it five minutes later she felt as light as a feather. And she looked like a pink feather blown along by a wind as she ran down the stairs to the floor below.

Women's Changed Hygiene

New way discards like tissue

By [illegible] Registered Nurse

MILLIONS of women are changing from uncertain, hazardous, hygienic ways to a new way called Kotex.

✓ You dispose of Kotex as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry, no disposal problem.

You wear lightest, filmiest gowns without fear. Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads.

You obtain it at any store without hesitancy [illegible] Kotex. Many stores [illegible] wrapped for you to pick up [illegible] for, and take home without even asking.

Package of 12 costs only a few cents. 8 in 10 better class women now use this way. Be sure to get the genuine, for only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

KOTEX

No laundry—discard like tissue

Neither age nor business cares—just Dandruff

You can have a fine head of hair even if you've started to lose it.

But never until you have solved the dandruff question!

A preparation called Danderine completely dissolves dandruff. Removes every particle of dead scale. The hair takes [illegible]. And new hair has a chance to grow [illegible].

What a pity when [illegible] the heads with something never intended to [illegible]. The way to treat dandruff is to get rid of it. Use the one thing made to dissolve dandruff—and the one thing that does!

Every druggist in this country has Danderine, and knows what it will do. He knows it will do the work, and knows why. He will gladly take the time to tell you, if you ask him. And it costs 35 cents!

DAILY SHORT STORY

THE WILL OF HIRAM HALL

By Louise P. Armstrong

HIRAM HALL was late coming home from [illegible] night, [illegible] possessed of a k[illegible] occasioned by which [illegible] stubbornly to the price [illegible] set for his standing timber in the [illegible] field of his farm. [illegible] with whom he had negotiated [illegible] capitulated in the [illegible] however [illegible] agreed to [illegible] on Hiram's terms. The thought of [illegible] young farmer's heart as he drove through the drifting snow.

Then, through the misty curtain of snow, Hiram saw a dark shape lying beside the road. He drew rein, jumped from the wagon before it stopped and unhooked the battered lantern from the dash [illegible] to turn its dim rays upon the figure huddled at his feet.

"My gosh, it's a girl!" exclaimed Hiram.

Hiram saw a gleam of golden curls beneath the rough cloth cap she wore pulled about her ears. He shook her gently, called to her, then taking off his gloves, he slapped her bare hands vigorously. The girl was freezing, sinking into the deep [illegible] of oblivion.

Hiram lifted her [illegible] and strode toward the w[illegible]. He was very glad to see the [illegible] of home gleam through the [illegible] branches of the dripping trees as he turned from the highway. W[illegible] waiting to blanket Bess, he carried the girl in, calling to his mother as he pushed open the door and strode across the living room.

It was almost an hour later when Hiram entered the room again, having finished his chores. The girl had disappeared.

"She's upstairs," his mother informed him. "I've put her to bed in the spare room. S[illegible] she was one of those orphans running away from the asylum. You'll have to go to the postoffice in the morning, Hiram—I'll send a notice that she's here."

"But—if she's running away," objected her son, "maybe she won't want to have the notice sent! Suppose—suppose," exclaimed Hiram, "we keep her here—to help you with the housework, Maw."

His mother looked at him as though he had gone suddenly mad. "When did you get the idea, Hiram, that I'm not able to do my own housework?" At his crestfallen expression, she turned abruptly to the door. "How about that timber?" she paused to ask him, disapproval strong in her tones.

"I got the price you set, Maw," Hiram told her.

For an instant his mother's face relaxed into a smile. "That'll be a big amount in the bank for you, Hiram. Some day you will be rich—as—as rich as old Amos Rudd. I'm determined that you shall be."

Hiram nodded indifferently. He saw that her face was hard and bitter again. And for some reason she was very angry with him. He knew that she hated Amos Rudd, had hated him since he had forced them into near bankruptcy shortly after her husband's death.

Rudd had held a mortgage on the farm, had attempted to foreclose it, [illegible] some of their relatives. Well, [illegible] was all paid up now, [illegible] was there. They had a tidy sum in the bank and were do[illegible].

Next morning Hiram left early for the postoffice with the notice his mother had written about the girl. But when almost there he stopped abruptly, took it out of his pocket and read it. Then he deliberately tore it into tiny pieces.

When he returned he found the girl in the old living room. She was sitting beside the open fire sewing. He saw that she was mending one of his work shirts.

"Oh, I'm so glad to be able [illegible] to thank you," she cried, springing up and holding out a hand to him. "You've saved my life!"

"Aw, it's lucky I found you, but you mustn't say that," protested Hiram.

"Indeed—I can't thank you enou[illegible]—I—"

But here his mother entered remarking curtly about the fire. It needed wood—in fact she had no wood in the kitchen! Hiram must go immediately and cut some wood.

It was the last he saw of the girl that day. The following morning she did slip in while he was at breakfast and they chatted together gaily until his mother spied them. This girl, Elsie was her name, well, she was a sweet little thing. He felt very strangely when he thought of her!

And so matters stood, and probably would never have progressed further, if Amos Rudd had not dropped in about a week later to purchase seed oats.

"I'll go talk to him!" cried old Mrs. Hall when Hiram told her Rudd waited out by the barn. "I'll talk to him—and it won't be about seed oats either! Elsie—go get my cape—now where is that girl?"

Hiram said nothing. He had seen Elsie's face at the mention of Amos Rudd, had seen her turn and rush nervously from the kitchen. As his mother went out to the barn to meet her [illegible] enemy, Hiram followed in the direction Elsie had taken.

She was huddled on the sofa; she was crying.

"He's—he's my uncle!" she sobbed. "He didn't come for seed oats—but to see if I was here, and to take me w[illegible]! Oh, I can't bear him—I hate him!"

"Listen!" he said to her, as he wiped tears from blue eyes with his pocket-handkerchief. "Hide in the loft above your room. I'll say you ran away. There's a ladder—I'll show you."

His mother entered the living room an hour or so later. She sighed with relief and contentment. The girl whose beauty she feared had been frightened into flight.

Then she gasped, for on the old sofa she saw a starry-eyed vision of happiness, and beside her, clasping her hands, sat Hiram, her son!

"I've persuaded her to stay," Hiram said. "And tomorrow we're to be married, Maw. I guess this will end your quarrel with Amos Rudd, seeing that Elsie is his niece and hates him like poison."

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

BETTER an hour of real romance, Glorianna, than a cycle of "necking"!

This is the season when a man begins to feel the need of a spring tonic, a brand new collection of cravats and a brand new temptation to pep him up and dispel that languid feeling.

A bachelor is in a dangerous way at this time of year if he has reached that sentimental stage where he can think of rice without shuddering.

True love might run as smoothly as a waltz, most of the time, if it weren't for the "cut-in," who nearly always arrives at the psychological moment to wreck it.

There is bound to be an awful smash-up when a girl goes into love or marriage with 1927 theories and an 1830 heart.

A girl doesn't worry much about her future these days, but she is sadly annoyed and disappointed if she has reached twenty without making a "past" for herself.

The eyes may be the windows of the soul and the nose the index to the character, but it's a man's MOUTH, dear heart, that is the keynote to the temper, temperament, grouches and temptations that you'll have to live with after you marry him!

When a man's wife agrees with everything he says it is not so often because she is too wise to argue with him as because she is so tired of LISTENING to him!

MANHATTAN needs two more holdups and a murder to get back into first place.

ILLINOIS also holds other records. Joliet has ten more house guests than Sing Sing.

THE average crook prefers to work in Chicago because the seats in the patrol wagon are more comfortable.

NOT only that, but they're roomier. A Cicero burglar says he's ridden to jail nine times and never had to stand up once.

HE'S used the police patrol so much that the city made him buy the license plates this year.

HE just can't help riding in the "Black Maria"; he inherits it. His father was born in a covered wagon.

HE'S got a wonderful education. Before he was twelve years old he'd gone through three reform schools.

AND now he's taking a post-graduate course at Joliet.

LAST year he worried the faculty to death by jumping over the campus wall.

HE was in such a hurry when he left that he didn't even wait for his diploma.

HE was a great man for fraternities. He bought a black-jack and joined the "I Socks Guys."

HE got his Greek letters off restaurant menus. A handcuff is the fraternity.

NEW YORK, March 7.—What would stockholders of a corporation say if the management were to act as unbusinesslike as Congress acted towards the close of this session?

The Senate dawdled day after day during the early part of their work and then entered a stampede to do several months' work in as many days. The inevitable result was chaos. Things were done which should not have been done, and many things were left undone which should should have been done. The whole exhibition—by no means rare in the history of Congress—perhaps explains in part why there has developed in recent years strong antagonism to infusing more government into business. Were the managers and directors of an important enterprise to act similarly, the stockholders would throw them out.

NOTHING decisive has yet developed in industry, in business or in the security markets.

THE AVERAGE quotation for stocks on the New York Exchange last week again touched a new peak for the year. Irregularity, however, became somewhat more pronounced. It was evident that the operators for the rise were encountering more opposition. Certain stocks were depressed sharply. Others were marked up equally sharply. Manifestly, a battle of giants is on.

Sales of more than 2,000,000 shares in a day, however, indicate that the market is not strictly professional. The public must be buying and selling on quite a scale. The writer has been traveling a great deal lately and talking with many classes from many parts of the country, and the impression gathered is that interest in the stock market is today unusually widespread.

It cannot be said that sentiment outside of Wall street is either wholly bullish or wholly bearish. Some outsiders are buying, some are selling short.

BONDS ARE today selling within a fraction of the highest level of the year. Certain wealthy interests have been turning from stocks to bonds. They regard the latter as safer than stocks at current level. It is reasoned that so long as money continues plentiful there is little danger of any serious decline in bonds. There is less certainty that stocks will stay up even should money continue abundant. Incidentally, all signs are that money will continue in ample supply at very reasonable rates.

CORPORATION profits may or may not rule high. Some of the latest reports show less satisfactory results. The price trend has been downwards and the wage trend upwards. Competition in most lines has become intensely keen. Therefore, even where volume has been large, net profits have not always been better than normal or even normal.

And in the long run, net profits, rather than money rates, will govern quotations for the general run of stocks. It is because of the uncertainty regarding future profits that opinions are divided regarding the probable course of stock quotations.

TOTAL BUSINESS is still of heavy volume as measured by the customary yardsticks. Railway traffic continues record-breaking. Bank clearings show gains. Building activity is remarkably well maintained. Foreign trade continues reasonably active. Copper is again higher. Cotton manufacturers are doing distinctly better. The steel industry is at least holding its own. Price-cutting has again featured the motor industry, although leading companies are able to report satisfactory sales.

OCCASIONAL reports of unemployment come to hand. They are not at all serious in themselves, but those who are pessimistic portray them as full of significance.

THUS FAR 1927 may be said to have marked time. If nothing extraordinary favorable has developed, at least nothing extraordinarily unfavorable has developed. The prevailing expectation is for about as good business as was enjoyed last year.

'WIRELESS' TO DRIVE AUTOS POSSIBILITY

By FRANK H. MELOON,
Financial Editor.

Frank G. Baum, San Francisco hydro-electric engineer, is credited by the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co. with having discovered a patented Westinghouse device to transmit electric power over unlimited distances. The engineers say this will make transmission of electric power across the continent a possibility.

I talked with Westinghouse officials aboard a steamship bound for Europe a few weeks ago regarding the possibilities of such an invention as is now definitely announced. They stated it might be possible for automobiles, driven by electricity, to be supplied with wireless power through the air from scattered central stations. It will be recalled that a Greater Boston inventor perfected a plan during the war by which a ray stalled engines of all automobiles, airplanes, etc., within a certain radius. I believe this invention was secured by the United States government as a war weapon.

Development of the new invention will probably take some time, but it might conceivably lead to the use of more electric-driven automobiles, with a problematical effect on the world's gasoline markets. It remains to be seen just how economically the power could be supplied and used before jumping at the conclusion it will result in any large displacing of gasoline.

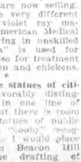
Latest sale of a seat in the great private organization known as the New York Stock Exchange was for $182,000, just $3,000 under the previous sales and the highest on record. New York Cotton Exchange membership changed hands for $27,000, off $750 from the previous sale. I understand the New York Cotton Exchange has been prospering greatly under its new president, Samuel T. Hubbard, Jr., former Bostonian and Harvard man.



S. T. Hubbard, Jr.

Public utilities can legitimately continue to swell their revenues by sales of the high frequency violet ray machines they are now selling. These machines are very different from the "ultra" violet ray machines which the American Medical Society opposes having in unskilled hands. The "ultra" is used for treating milk and also for treatment of rickets in children and chickens.

Frequently we see statues of citizens who have favorably distinguished themselves in one line of effort or another, but there is room for a number of statues of public leaders who deserve "booby" recognition. Among these I would place the men then on Beacon Hill responsible for the drafting of legislation which drove the world's largest corporation, American Telephone, to be incorporated in New York instead of in Massachusetts, thus losing for the Bay State besides the taxes involved a distinction which appears to have belonged here most properly.

New England-born men, however, continue largely to direct American Telephone's destinies. Both President Walter S. Gifford and Chairman H. B. Thayer hail from this Commonwealth, together with numerous directors.

Walter G. Brown, formerly with Blodgett & Co. and Stone & Webster and Blodgett, Inc., is now with Baker, Young & Co.

Dowling, Swain & Shea have moved from No. 75 State street to the second floor of the Brazer Building. The firm was organized in 1920 and incorporated in 1921. John L. Shea is president, Herbert F. Swain, treasurer, and William J. Haggerty, secretary.

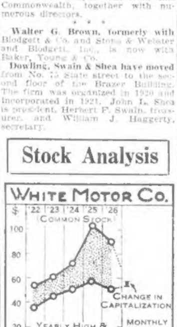
Stock Analysis



White Motor Company is one of the largest automobile manufacturers engaged exclusively in production of commercial vehicles. It owns and operates an extensive modern plant which covers about twenty-five acres of land at Cleveland, O.

Formerly its business consisted almost entirely of the manufacture of trucks, but in recent years huge expansion in the use of buses has made the production of this type of vehicle an increasingly important factor in the White Motor Company's business.

During the ten years which ended in 1925, annual average net profits amounted to $3,250,091, or to $6.50 per share, based on 500,000 shares of $50 par value; 1925 earnings were equal to $10.11 per share as compared with $8.17 earned in 1924. It is estimated that 1926 earnings were substantially better than those of the previous year.

At the time of last report the company was in a sound financial condition with current assets of over $30,000,000 and current liabilities of only a little over $5,000,000.

There were no bank loans outstanding. All funded debt was eliminated in 1925 with the retirement of purchase money obligations totalling $1,203,000. The company has no preferred stock.

The present dividend rate of $4 per share has been maintained without interruption since December, 1916. In April, 1926, a $5,000,000 stock dividend was distributed.

RADIO DIALOG

by C. WILLIAM RADOS

SATURDAY the papers told us of the rescue by radio of the crew of a Spanish freighter burning at sea. The SOS call from the heaving, sinking Spaniard came from far off the New York coast. The lives of forty men depended upon someone; an amateur operator, a large liner, a naval station, perhaps a broadcast station picking up the weak and life-asking appeal. It was picked up and the men saved.

Sometimes when we are listening to the higher stations code from shipping breaks up smooth reception of distant programs. But to the man who can read code there is sometimes something far more interesting on the air than an appeal to buy shoes, ink, or paving blocks. While the appeal of the commercial broadcaster may be truly heart rending from his point of view, the SOS call occasionally used, shows us very poignantly that radio has more serious uses than the one with which most of us associate it with.

Some shipping companies are so reactionary that they will not install radio because it costs them a few thousand dollars.

One of the practical ways in which radio may help mankind is by helping the formation of a federation of English speaking peoples. Instead of a formal political federation we mean that by the use of trans-oceanic radio tie-ups and transcontinental broadcasts by powerful stations English speaking people the world over could gradually be made one in thought.

Such a group of hundreds of millions of people, if it wished, could probably render war very unlikely. At least it would be a very large portion of intelligent, powerful and civilized humanity.

Excellent communication in these States has made the man of Oregon the counterpart of the man of Idaho and of every other State. Radio is doing its share.

With extension of the tie-up idea, more of the world would gradually absorb higher ideals.

The air sounded mushy and full of snorts, sighs and clicks, with slight fading as we listened last night. Outside stations came through poorly and below the locals, only KDKA could be heard well enough to be worth listening to.

WJZ was weak, but WEAF was fairly loud. Others on the national chain broadcasts were heard above 400 metres, but could not be identified due to lack of signing.

Coming back to Boston, we want you to listen to Jimmie Gallagher and his men tonight from WNAC. Probably Jimmie will sing "Bridgett O'Flynn." Usually dance teams play better than they sing. This is a worthy exception.

On WBZ's transmission last night we noticed a bad line crackle, which seriously impaired clear reception. Tuning away we heard the same program in much better fashion from KDKA.

Our evening's honors go to the Atwater Kent advertisement. The London string quartette, from Europe, presented an hour which contained several classical selections from the immortals. Their playing was such as to bring out the beauties of Mozart and Tschaikowsky and Beethoven so that the most innocent tyro, musically speaking, could enjoy the concert.

"Sally in Our Alley" was the surprise which showed up in sharp contrast how peaceful and restful the more serious type of musicianship may be.

The Russian folk song, "Andante Cantabile," showed great thought and freshness of presentation. If all classical concerts can be as well presented as this Atwater Kent broadcast, then we know that America will find that Beethoven, Wagner, Mozart, Schubert and all the long list of others have beautiful surprises for those who can listen.

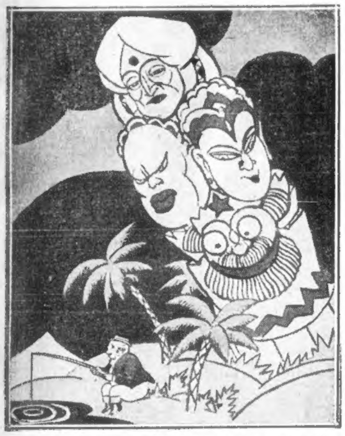
NATIONAL POLICIES OF THE HEARST NEWSPAPERS

1. An agreement of English-speaking peoples to preserve peace among themselves and promote the peace of the world.
2. A constitutional amendment to provide for the election of United States Senators in numbers proportionate to the population of each State, but no State to have less than two Senators. A reapportionment of Congressional representation immediately after every census, or in case of the failure of Congress so to act, to make the apportionment automatic at the end of the first Congressional session, the proportion of population for each representative in each case to be that of the existing Congress.
3. A separate Department of the Army, of the Navy and of the Air Forces, all united under a Secretary of National Defense.
4. Federal action to the limit of Federal Government powers to abolish illiteracy among the people of the United States, and the creation of a Secretary of Education.
5. Necessary measures to secure the election of Congress in November and its installation on the 1st of January following, and the inauguration of a President on the 1st of January immediately following his election in November.

"Look Out," Says Germany

John Bull Is O. K.—YET



JOHN BULL FISHES UNDER TOPPLING PAN-ASIA.

This picture, not comfortable for our British brethren, if they take it seriously, is published by the Berlin comic paper Kladderadatsch, with the line "A German Warning to Britain."

Old History is saying to John Bull, comfortably fishing under his sheltering palms, "Say, young fellow, you'll be lucky if that Pan-Asian Bloc doesn't crush your Indian palms."

The gigantic Asiatic monument, toppling over, represents India, Japan, China and Russian Bolshevism.

John Bull may seem to fish without thinking, but HE DOESN'T. That's his salvation.

A well-known man recently traveled from England around the world, took what Britishers may well and proudly call "the all red route." By all red they mean that Britain's red flag goes around the whole world.

He went on English ships from England through the Suez Canal, on through British possessions or countries controlled by Britain, and never stopped on any non-British territory except when he landed in Hawaii, one happy thought of the U. S. A.

The British know about running colonies and know that the gentleman in the "Pan-Asian Bloc" won't trouble Britain.

The Hindu at the top of the monument would fight and destroy his Moslem brother, rather than bother the English. And he knows that all Asiatics are feared by the millions of Russian peasants. From their infancy Russia's children have been taught to dread the "slant-eyed people" that so often have laid waste their villages.

The British would reply to the German cartoon, "You can't make a rope out of sand. You can't make an efficient anti-British alliance out of peoples that hate each other more than they hate the British, or out of people who realize that British control is really their salvation."

Old John Bull is fishing sometimes, shooting grouse and chasing the fox a good deal at the time. But he has genuine "STATESMEN" that are THINKING ALL THE TIME. That's what carries him through.

Shoes and Textiles

Universal Choice of Prison Manufacturers

Among other proposed enactments which were caught last week in Washington's last-minute jam of legislation is a bill which would divest prison-made merchandise of its interstate character.

Such a change in the law would permit the Legislatures of the New England States to place a ban upon the sale of prison-made shoes and textiles in this part of the country.

Representative William P. Connery, Jr., of Lynn, a member of the Committee on Labor, was surprised, he says, to discover that shoes and cotton textiles appear to be the universal choice of prison manufacturers. As the Lynn Congressman tells it:

> "Every warden who testified said that textiles and shoes are made in his prison.
> "As a New Englander, the testimony reminded me of the colored boxer who, attracted by the $1,000 offered to any man who would stay four rounds against the Boston boy, once upon a time went into the ring with John L. Sullivan.
> "For two tough rounds the colored lad stood up against the Champion of the World, who kept punching him again and again, right on the nose.
> "Finally, he turned to the referee and pleaded, 'Mr. Referee, won't you please ask the gentleman to scatter his blows a little more?'
> "That is what New England asks of prison labor. We approve thoroughly of convicts being kept busy, but we do not like their constantly hitting New England industries on the nose."

With other members who are as vitally interested, Representative Connery says, he will press for passage of the bill in the Fall.

EDUCATE GIRLS TO EARN LIVING

By DR. FRANK CRANE

WOMAN'S rights simply means giving women the same privileges as men and breaking the age-long slavery to which they have been subject.

There were many slave holders and slaves in the South who objected to abolition. They found the status of master and slave to be very pleasant. It doubtless was in many cases and contained many ameliorating conditions.

The condition of women is much like that of slaves. Their position is very pleasant in many cases. It is an easy thing for a woman to be the wife or daughter of some man who is willing and anxious to support her.

The fundamental basis, however, for a good marriage is the economic independence of the woman. When she is able to stand upon her own feet she is in a much better position to drive a bargain with a man. When she is economically dependent she has to do about as he wants.

The condition of women for many thousands of years has been that of a slave, that is, she has been kept for man's enjoyment and supported by him for that purpose.

Only emerging into the condition of being an equal and free partner she finds many obstacles. One of these is the disposition of some married women to look down upon a woman who earns her own wages.

The woman wage-earner, however, is entitled to the highest respect. She is much more independent and less liable to embarrassment than the woman who is dependent for her means of support upon a man.

Every parent ought to train his daughters to make a living.

The old Jews gave every son a trade and every man ought to be able to make his living in the world and the same applies to every woman.

No better form of life insurance could be left a woman than some sort of ability or training to do something the world is willing to pay for.

DIPLOMAT.

HIS name is GEORGE REED and he hails from ROXBURY. MAYOR NICHOLS chose him to be a member of his secretarial staff and to act as a diplomat in handling callers at the MAYOR'S gate. Blessed with considerable weight and a smiling countenance, REED discharges his duties in a manner that would have done credit to Talleyrand.

GUARDIAN.

The real value of the companionship of a good dog is known by MRS. FRED BOHM, wife of the keeper of a government lighthouse of SOUTH DARTMOUTH. Partly because of her comparative isolation, MRS. BOHM has grown to know her airedale, "Teddy," better than most persons who own dogs become acquainted with their pets. As a guardian for her young child at the lighthouse the airedale can't be beat.

CAREFUL.

CATS IN SCHOOL.

DORCHESTER GIRLS' HIGH SCHOOL some time ago was infested with rats, and, though many were trapped, nothing cleared the big CODMAN SQUARE establishment of the rodents until a number of cats were introduced. Now the cats are allowed to roam at will about the classrooms, by day and by night, and everyone, including the cats, is happy.

EELS AND SNAILS.

FIELD CLERK JAMES WHELAN of DORCHESTER, who went overseas with the first of Uncle Sam's conquering heroes in the World War, is now stationed in PANAMA, but writes he expects soon to be home again. He says that, when a boy, his pet aversions were eels and snails. When first in Paris he partook of a dish the name of which he did not know, and was later told it was a combination of eels and snails, popular "delicacy."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

FRED EVANS has a new car.

He's mighty proud of it. Pets it along as if it was made of solid platinum.

The dealer told him he mustn't run it over 25 miles an hour for the first 500 miles. Explained to him how a car needed "to get acquainted with itself" and how he'd wreck it if he drove it too hard at first.

Fred took it all in as meekly as a baby learning ABC. Pretty funny to see Fred acting meek. Fred's usually about as meek as a nice, lively depth bomb. And impatient—zowie! But he listened to every word the auto salesman said and he surely has coddled the car.

What's more, he lectures every other man in the office about the care of cars. To hear Fred you'd think he was the original authority on auto mechanics. If one of the boys dares step on a new roadster and show a little speed Fred goes up in the air. Tells him he isn't fit to handle a fine piece of machinery—that he ought to be rustling steers instead——

Yes, Fred is certainly the Wise Boy when it comes to handling a new car. And yet——

But His Boy—

There's that 14-year-old boy of Fred's.

Nice kid, but awkward as a yearling calf. All arms and legs and floppy ears. Lazy, too—you know how kids are at that age. Always sprawling around under foot. Drops everything in his tracks. Can't even get him to wash his own ears without a row. Moody, too. Whooping all over the place one day and sulking the next. Can't get along with anyone. Fights with his sisters—sasses his mother. No, there's no particular reason for it.

Yes, young David Evans is certainly a handful at present.

And how he gets Fred's goat! From the minute Fred comes home to the minute he leaves it, he's roaring at that kid. Gets irritable if he even hears his name mentioned. Calls him a "confounded, lazy, young pup"—says he has a mind to "whale the hide off him"—wants to know why on earth he can't snap out of it and act human?

"Perfect Son"

Fred has a picture in his mind of the Perfect Son. A wonderful picture of a bright, efficient, immaculate, polite, brisk young person who will always do his Fond Papa proud. Why can't he have a son like that? Why should he be humiliated by this Perfect Loss?

HE ISN'T READY TO TAKE THE HILLS ON HIGH, DAD.
ELSIE ROBINSON

Home's a pretty stormy place these days for the whole famil Poor Mrs. Evans cries a good deal and wonders what's going to happen. Every day the boy grows sulkier and more resentful. Every day the father gets angrier and more impatient.

Strange, isn't it, that a man could be so patient with a new, unadjusted machine that is made of wood and steel—

And so brutally impatient with a new, unadjusted machine that is made of flesh and bone!

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

THERE are a host of vexing debts which folly bids us make, such things as bring us cares and frets and many a pang and ache. Oh, many a heart-ache, woe and grief of foolish debts are born; the joy they bring is all too brief and then we go forlorn. But there are other debts we know which leave no sense of loss; the countless lovely things we owe to love hold naught of dross. Oh, there are debts no man can pay, and these we prize far more than gold the misers hoard away to swell their shining store. Brave souls have lent us faith of old, have lent us hope and cheer. We cannot pay them back, but hold these debts each day more dear!

Time and Space

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

THERE was an error in a recent article of mine which I wish to correct. It was there stated that if a new star suddenly burst forth at a distance of a million light years and was immediately extinguished, its light would continue visible from the earth during a million years, although the star had existed but for a moment. The thoughtless insertion of the words "from the earth" was the source and cause of the error.

Cut out those misleading words and the statement remains true. For at every successive point along the line of nearly six quintillion miles from the star's place to the earth the light would be momentarily visible during a period of a million years.

At no one point would it be visible for a longer time than the brief duration of the star itself, but the fact that the light had been extinguished at the star would have no effect upon the light-waves already on their way through space.

As seen at successive points in space, at increasing distances from the point of origin, the star would be reborn and re-extinguished during a million years. And if the eye retreated with the velocity of light the star would never appear extinguished.

Of course the limit of a million years has reference only to the time required for the light to pass from the star to the earth.

The curious relation between space and time is well calculated to awaken thought, but it is sometimes used for the construction of theories more picturesque than true or convincing. It has been suggested, for instance, that traveling with the speed of light would arrest the advance of time for the traveler. No less a mathematician than Professor Eddington has written as follows:

"It is a favorite device for bringing home the vast distances of the stars to imagine a voyage through space with the velocity of light. The youthful adventurer steps on his magic carpet loaded with provisions for a century.

"He reaches his journey's end, say Arcturus, a decrepit centenarian. This is wrong. It is quite true that the journey would last something like a hundred years by terrestrial chronology; but the adventurer would arrive at his destination no more aged than when he started, and he would not have had time to think of eating.

"So long as he travels with the speed of light he has immortality and eternal youth. If in some way his motion were reversed so that he returned to the earth again, he would find that centuries had elapsed here, while he himself did not feel a day older—for him the voyage had lasted only an instant."
